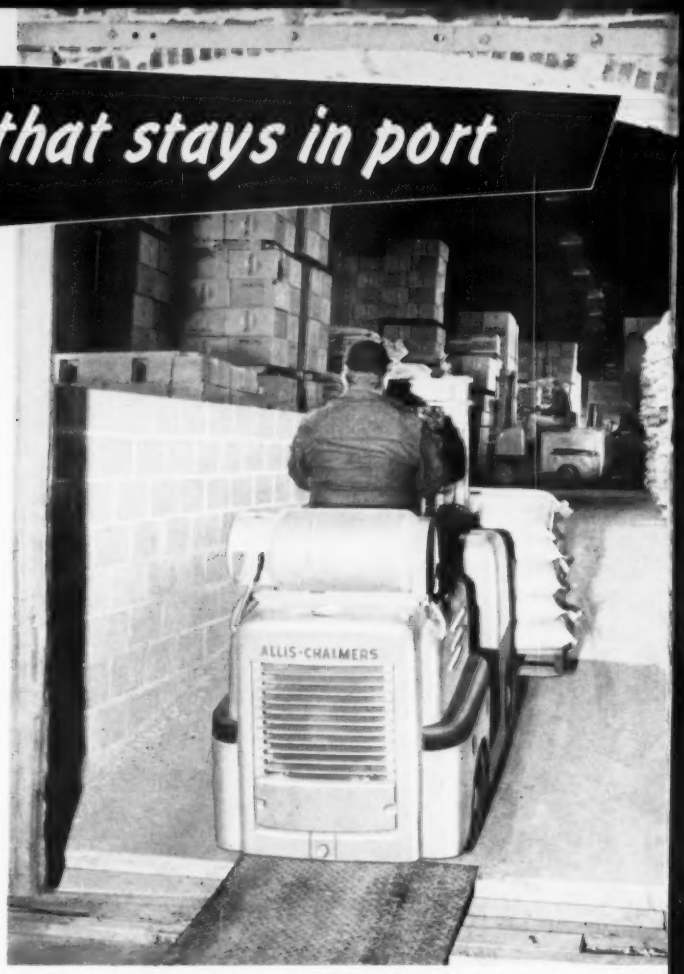
Here's a busy fleet that stays in port

Fleet of 14 Allis-Chalmers fork lift trucks speeds handling of shipments at Port of Chicago

There is a steady flow of goods through the Port of Chicago . . . a smooth, two-way interchange between ship, rail and trailer. Expediting this flow is a fleet of 14 Allis-Chalmers fork trucks operated jointly by Illiana Storage Company, Great Lakes Warehouse Corp., Packers Terminal Warehouse Corp., and Seaway Stevedoring Company.

Their choice of trucks was made with an eye to the future as well as the present, for they know this fleet would be called on to work under more demanding conditions when the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed. Already, the wisdom of their selection has been proved by the Allis-Chalmers fork trucks, as is shown by the accompanying letter from Al Williams, Warehouse Superintendent.

Ask your Allis-Chalmers material handling dealer to show you how these fork trucks can streamline your operations, make your handling economical and fast.



Negotiating ramps under full load is the all-day job of this Allis-Chalmers fork truck. This is where heavy-duty construction pays off. The industrial-type Allis-Chalmers engine handles this job with a comfortable reserve of power, keeps on working month after month.

Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Attention: Mr. C. A. Leetz, District Manager

Dear Sir:

The nature of our business is such that very little allowance can be tolerated for down-time due to mechanical failures or poor service.

Uninterrupted handling of material under peak load conditions is essential to our customers and ourselves in this highly competitive business.

Allis-Chalmers fork trucks have made it possible for us to operate at costs much lower than we had thought possible. A thorough understanding by your dealer of warehousing and stevedoring problems have simplified our maintenance problems.

Ease of handling accounts for extra work done, especially where precise maneuvering is required. Durability is another reason for the popularity of Allis-Chalmers fork trucks here.

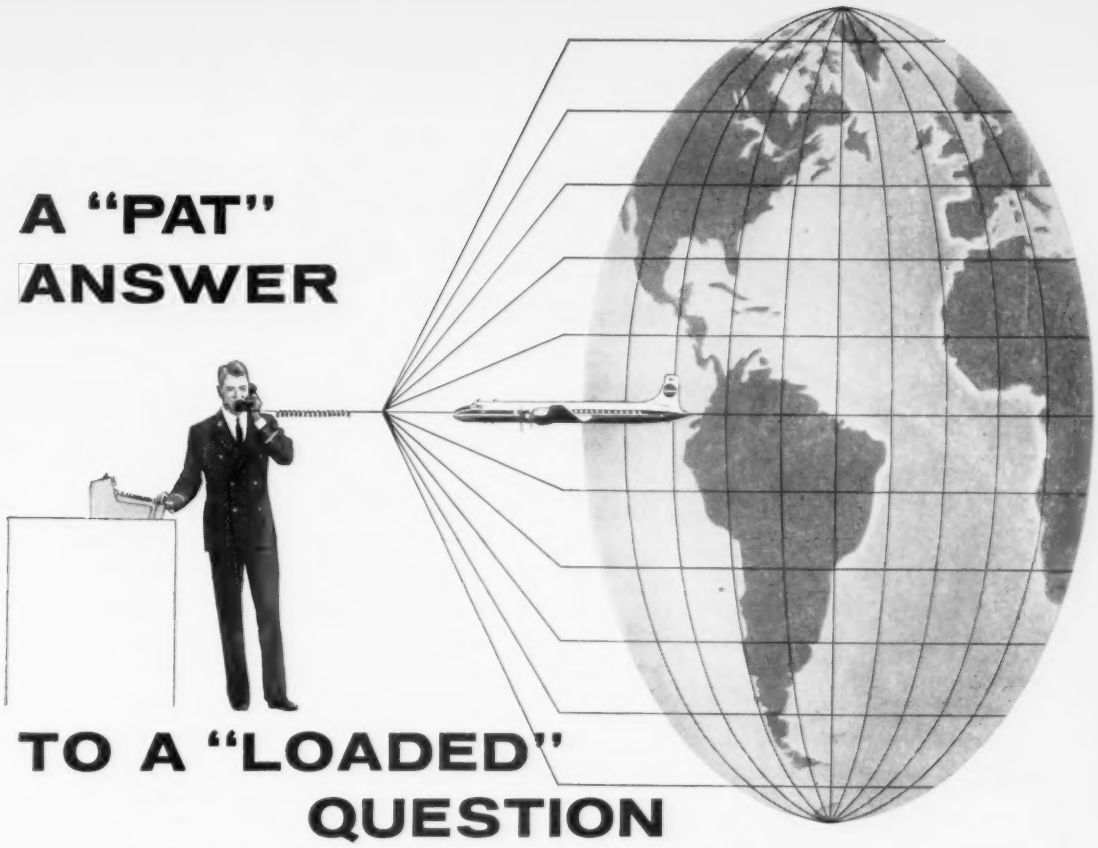
A "PAT" ANSWER



TO A "LOADED" QUESTION

The world's fastest, surest reservations—another bonus you get with the new Pan Am Profit Lift

Cargo space is confirmed in 4 seconds flat, thanks to "PAT" — electronic Pan Am Teleregister.

You know when your shipment will leave. You know when it will arrive.

And, reserved or not reserved, all Clipper* Cargo is expedited cargo.

This is just one of the dividends you collect with the new Pan Am Profit Lift—the most comprehensive service of ANY overseas cargo carrier.

Only the Pan Am Profit Lift offers both shipper and consignee all this:

FASTEST DELIVERY TO ALL THE WORLD. No other airline can match Pan Am's number of direct flights to and from the 6 continents of the world. Result: no unnecessary transshipments, no time-wasting layovers.

WORLD'S MOST EXPERIENCED AIR CARGO CARRIER. Pan Am handles 71% more overseas cargo than any other airline. Experienced personnel keep track of your shipment every step of the way.

WORLD'S MOST MODERN AIR FLEET. Your goods travel first class when they fly via Clipper Cargo. Up-to-the-minute equipment includes pressurized and temperature-controlled planes.

"DOORSTEP" SERVICE FROM ANYWHERE IN THE U. S. If your town has a highway, railroad or airport, you can ship overseas by Pan Am. Just call PAA, your cargo agent, forwarder or local airline.

You enjoy service like this only when you ship via Pan Am Clipper Cargo, yet you pay the minimum prescribed rates.

Isn't it time you turned your shipping worries over to Pan Am? For more information, contact Pan Am (in New York, STillwell 6-7341), your cargo agent or forwarder. Or write L. P. Cornwall, Cargo Sales Manager, P. O. Box 1790, New York 17, N. Y.

FASTEST DELIVERY TO ALL THE WORLD

Which leg is the most important?

That's Easy... ...all THREE!

ONE – ADVERTISING familiarizes your potential customers with your products.

TWO – SALES PROMOTION gives them the opportunity to place their orders.

THREE – EFFICIENT DISTRIBUTION provides the final and equally important "leg" that gets your merchandise promptly and efficiently delivered to the customer. Quick deliveries are great inducements to reorder and also makes each inventory dollar pay off in quicker turnover.

We don't know much about the advertising or sales "legs" but when it comes to that third important leg—distribution—we've got some mighty good advice. Consult the experts.

Our forty-two Member Warehouses are experts on Storage and Distribution. This is their specialty. Their experience, modern facilities and trained personnel can supply you with every advantage of forty-two separate branches without the excessive overhead and fixed expenses.

It is important to save money! It is important to increase sales! A simple answer to both problems: Use Distribution Service Member Warehouses. Without obligation call or write for information — do it TODAY!

For long-distance moving

It's good to remember that GREYVAN means reliable GREYHOUND service!

YOU HAVE undoubtedly discovered that people are the biggest part of the moving problem. People who are sincerely and understandably concerned about their household treasures.

AS PART of Greyhound Lines, GREYVAN has been dealing with people for a long, long time. We understand them. And we understand the problems of Traffic and Personnel Management, too. We know the importance – to you and to us – of performing what we promise to your people. Courteous and convenient service – swift, sure and safe – in packing, hauling, storing and unpacking. That's why more and more Traffic Managers advise—give it to GREYVAN . . . to be sure!

Lift Truck Mfrs. Election

C. E. Klumb, of West Bend Equipment Corp., West Bend, Wis., has been re-elected president of the Association of Lift Truck and Portable Elevator Manufacturers. The organization also re-elected Vice President George G. Raymond, Jr., of The Raymond Corp., Greene, N. Y. Hanson and Shea, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa., was reappointed to provide management services.

Award Winner

Voris Lyons (left) president of Transportation Underwriters, Inc., is shown congratulating John W. DeVenne, president of The Western Express Co., Cleveland, on that firm's winning of the President's Trophy. The trophy honored Western's recent completion of two million over-the-road miles without an accident. Called the grand prize of trucking, this award was made only once before. It follows two previous "one-million mile, no-accident" awards made in 1954 and 1956

Upturn in Transportation Seen for '58 by Chamber

A possible upturn in transportation by mid-1958 is predicted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in its report, "Transport Review and Outlook Year-End 1957."

The report states that the downtrend in revenues became more pronounced at the end of 1957. They could be reversed, however, by an upswing in the general economy, particularly in heavy industry, coupled with the granting of requested rate increases.

Also of major importance, the Chamber reports, is reduction or repeal by Congress of the excise taxes on transportation and communication.

Reviewing the past year, the Chamber reported total intercity ton-miles estimated at 1363 billion or slightly above the 1956 total of 1360 billion. Railroads with 630 billion ton miles showed a four per cent drop. Freight carried by domestic airlines, on the other hand, rose 23 per cent to 407 million ton miles. Inland waterway carriers were up 12 per cent with 123 billion and oil pipe lines held their own at 230 billion. Motor carriers increased their ton miles by about 2 per cent for a total of 260 billion.

—DA—

The total of new freight cars placed in service last year was the second highest since 1925. The Association of American Railroads and the American Railway Car Institute announced jointly that 99,290 cars went into service in 1957, 112,640 in 1948, the top year, and 105,735 in 1925.

26 Railroad Leaders Tell Senate Subcommittee Of Serious Trouble Ahead, Suggest Remedies

"A mighty industry has come upon sick and precarious times," Sen. George Smathers said in opening recent hearings on the railroad industry.

After hearing testimony of 26 industry leaders backing up this opinion, the Florida Senator concluded:

"The railroads, once the dominant, overpowering segment of our nation's transportation—no longer occupy that position. They have lost their pre-eminence, some of their importance and most, if not all, of their profits."

The testimony which led to these statements was presented to the Senate subcommittee by such industry leaders as Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads; Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central System; James M. Symes, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad; W. R. Rouse, vice president, Union Pacific; John W. Smith, president, Seaboard Air Line Railroad; Baltimore and Ohio President Howard E. Simpson; and President Ernest S. Marsh, of the Santa Fe.

Loomis offered a nine-point program for dealing with the financial problems of railroading. The proposals are: Enact legislation to forbid the ICC to consider in judging proposed rates the effect of those rates on other forms of transportation; limit private carriage to that in furtherance of a primary enterprise; limit agricultural exemptions; move from state boards to the ICC jurisdiction in discontinuance and consolidation of trains; remove "special restrictions" which keep railroads out of motor and water transportation; reject "make-work propositions" proposed under the guise of such things as safety; repeal the excise taxes on transportation; settle the dispute between the railroads and the Treasury Department over the 30 per cent reserve off-set required by the government; and permit a tax-free fund for use in equipment purchases within a limited time, the depreciation on the equipment to be figured on a 20-year life.

The heart of Symes suggestions was the widely publicized Symes Plan, creation of a federal agency to purchase equipment and lease it to the railroads.

Symes also asked that the ICC and Post Office Department be directed by law to establish rates for all kinds of service that will cover costs and allow a reasonable profit. With regard to postal service, he also suggested that parcel post be limited to very small packages or that the Post Office Department take over the Railway Express Agency. Railroads, Symes said, lose money on both. Other points in Symes' testimony dealt with commuters, state regulation, taxes, government rates and government competition, private carriage, agricultural exemptions, and integrated transportation.

In closing the first phase of the hearings, Senator Smathers said that the next phase will be held during February. At that time the Postmaster General, Secretary of Commerce, the Interstate Commerce Commission, a Department of Defense representative, and others will be invited to offer testimony.

NITL in Special Meeting

A special meeting of The National Industrial Traffic League membership has been called for 10 a. m. Friday, Feb. 14, at the Palmer House, Chicago.

Purpose of the meeting is to act on a proposal to create a federal agency for financing and leasing railroad equipment (Symes Plan) and a proposal to establish incentive per diem.

Miss Catherine C. Dolan, traffic and warehouse manager, recently marked 50 years of service to Reichard-Coulston, Inc., New York manufacturers of iron oxide pigments.

Howard Spellman, traffic manager of international sales, is retiring after 50 years with the Radio Corp. of America.

Seaboard & Western Airlines President Raymond A. Norden has proposed a new type of "partnership" between the Military Air Transport Service and commercial airlines. Each partner would do that "for which he is best suited" toward expanding the nation's defense potential.

The Baker-Raulang Co., under a recent move by its parent company, has become The Baker Industrial Truck Division of Otis Elevator Co. Eugene Caldwell, formerly president of The Baker-Raulang Co., is the division general manager.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon recently christened the Grace Line's 20,000-ton liner the S. S. Santa Paula at Newport News, Va.

New West Coast Plant

Standard Shipping Containers Advocated Before Truck-Trailer Manufacturers Association

"An integrated system of standard sizes of shipping containers" as a means of obtaining transportation economies was advocated at the 17th Annual Convention of the Truck-Trailer Manufacturers Association.

Herbert H. Hall, materials handling consulting engineer, called for "a family of standard sizes." This would permit the shipper to select a container of the appropriate type and suitable capacity that can be delivered sealed and intact even though transferred from one type of carrier to another.

Dr. George P. Baker, professor of transportation, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, spoke on "National Transportation Policy in a Changing World."

"While overall intercity freight traffic trends have been very favorable outpacing the economy's growth," the speaker said, "ICC-regulated carriers have been steadily losing out to non-ICC-regulated carriers. This loss was largely the expense of the railroads, but in recent years ICC-regulated truckers have also fallen behind other truckers."

Legislative Line-Up

Following is a brief summary of legislative items pending in Washington. The status reported is as of Jan. 15.

ALASKA ROUTES—Bills introduced in the House and Senate would extend life of the Alaska International Rail and Highway Commission until mid-1960. Commission is surveying new rail and highway routes between the U. S. and Alaska.

HIGHWAYS—Senate Public Works (Gore) subcommittee plans to continue highway construction inquiry, beginning Feb. 18 with testimony by American Assn. of State Highway Officials. House Public Works was to hear Commerce Secretary Weeks and others on the roads program, starting Jan. 28.

POSTAL RATE INCREASES—Testimony on legislation to raise postal rate was to be heard by Senate Post Office Committee through February. Committee expects to make its report early in March.

TAXES—Ways and Means Committee delayed discussion of corporate, excise, and transportation tax rates until after Feb. 7. Committee was to conclude hearings on general revenue revision on that date.

Club Briefs

The Annual Breakfast-Dance of The Traffic Club of Houston was held Feb. 1 at the Houston Club. The program started with 8 p.m. cocktails and ended with breakfast at midnight.

The Central Valley Transportation Club, of Modesto, Calif., has scheduled Railroad Night for February 20 and Industry Night for March 20.

Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central System, spoke at the 39th Annual Dinner of the Traffic Club of Syracuse, N. Y.

Carl Hennrich, FBI agent, was the speaker at the last dinner meeting of the Women's Traffic Club of Philadelphia.

To mark Truck Night, the Metropolitan Traffic Assn. of New York, Inc., had as its speaker Past President Joseph Connors. He spoke on "People-Sales-Mergers."

The Philadelphia Chapter of the American Material Handling Soc., Inc. played host to the local SIPMHE chapter at the January meeting.

The New Jersey Chapter of the American Material Handling Soc., in cooperation with Westinghouse, is sponsoring a materials handling show and exposition in Newark on Feb. 5.

The Railroad Community Committee of Baltimore was host at a recent dinner meeting of the Industrial Traffic Managers Assn. of Baltimore.

"Military Packaging" was the subject of a recent meeting of the Soc. of Industrial Packaging and Materials Handling Engineers, Eastern Div.

The Women's Traffic Club of New York, Inc., met recently at the Park Sheraton Hotel and heard an address by Vincent A. G. O'Connor, commissioner, Dept. of Marine and Aviation, New York.

Morton E. Kiel, transportation attorney, was elected chairman of the Metropolitan New York Chapter of the Association of ICC Practitioners at a recent meeting. Other officers: Stephen Tinghitella, vice chairman; Richard E. Costello, secretary; and Raphael J. Janer, treasurer.

The Traffic Club of Brooklyn, Inc., has called its Annual Dinner Meeting for Thursday March 13.

"Present Business Trends" were reviewed by Harold Starr, of Shearson, Hammill & Co., investment brokers, at a recent meeting of the Los Angeles Transportation Club.

LOOK FOR THIS SEAL

it identifies
a responsible warehouse

In choosing a warehouse your first concern should be its moral responsibility. This one thing is your assurance that your goods are handled and stored by men who are experts in warehousing methods . . . men who fully realize their legal obligations as custodians of another man's property. Your interests as a warehouse customer are exactly the same as those of the A.W.A. The personal integrity of the owners, the financial stability of the company and a high standard of competence are the qualifications for membership. Look for the A.W.A. seal when you entrust your valuable merchandise to a warehouseman . . . and you will know you are dealing with competent, reliable people.

New! A unique system for avoiding production delays

Just recently, Clark Equipment Company inaugurated a communications system among dealers, its parts supply division, and its four plants, using electronic data processing and transmission equipment. Thus, when you need a specific truck or part that is not available locally, you obtain a fast answer through Clark headquarters and the entire dealer network.

All requests are put through data processing equipment for immediate action. Headquarters communicates with dealers individually, regionally, or nationally for information that will give you an answer in minutes. The system provides service unparalleled in the materials handling industry.

For details of this modern, new communications network and how it will affect your operations, simply write: Network, Clark Equipment Co., Battle Creek, Michigan.

WORLD'S LARGEST LONG-DISTANCE MOVERS

WASHINGTON DA

By Ray M. Stroupe, Chilton Washington News Bureau

ROADS ARE COSTLIER—Disturbing new cost estimates for the interstate highway system will get close study by Congress. As has been apparent since 1956, the $27.6 billion figured as the cost of the 41,000-mile net was too low. Bureau of Public Roads says it was $10 billion too low, because: Traffic forecast for 1975 is up 15 per cent; meeting local road needs will cost 15 per cent more; and construction costs rose 12 per cent.

PONDER TARIFF RISE—Arguments over the new rail freight tariffs were to be heard by the ICC on Jan. 29. Railroads were asking that the planned higher rates become effective Feb. 1. They wished to put the new schedules to work while ICC examines merits of each proposed increase. The tariffs are complex and selective, covering a great many items. Their general effect would be to boost shippers' costs an average of 3 per cent.

SIGN SHIP COMPACT — Contract newly signed by Farrell Lines, Inc., and the government will lead to building of 16 ships. The new freight and passenger vessels all are to be on order by 1968. Farrell and the Federal Maritime Board agree that the first five will be under contract by Sept. 30, 1959. This program is to add $150 million to $180 million in work for American shipyards. New ships will sail between U. S. Atlantic ports and Africa.

CLARKE JOINS C. & O. — Former ICC Chairman Owen Clarke now becomes a vice president, Chesapeake & Ohio Ry. In resigning from the ICC, he asked that his duties be ended not later than Feb. 1. Mr. Clarke was named to the agency in 1953. The White House indicated its choice to succeed him is Abe McGregor Goff, general counsel of the Post Office Dept. Mr. Goff is a former congressman from Idaho. He and Mr. Clarke are Republicans.

CLIMB IN STOCKPILE—Strategic items valued at $6.2 billion were stored in the national stockpile as of last June 30. This stockpile then held 25.6 million tons of materials, Defense Mobilizer Gordon Gray now reports to Congress. On order were $250 million worth of goods. Changes in stockpile needs and policies were anticipated. A special committee studying these matters was to present its findings to Mr. Gray in January.

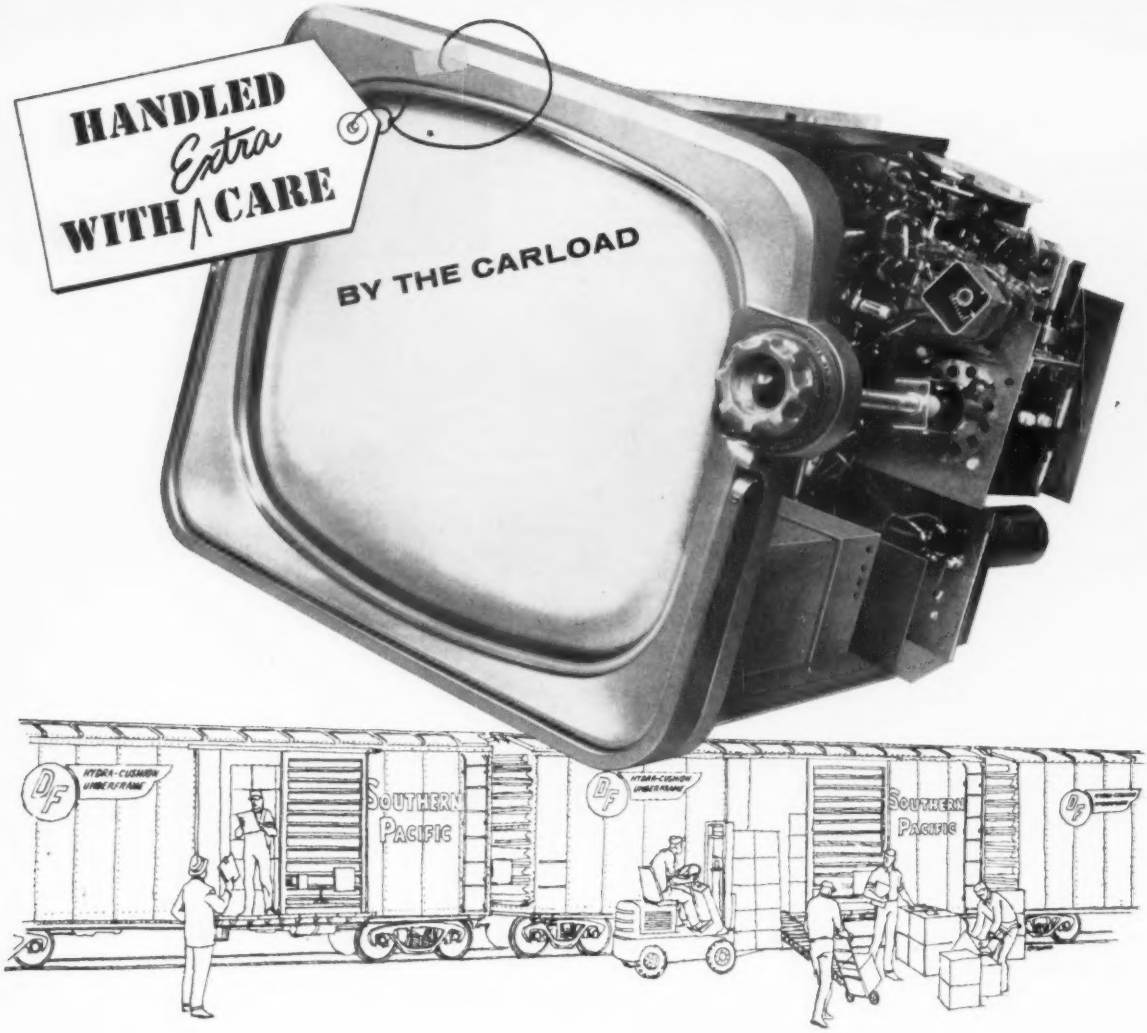
SEEK CARGO PRICE BOOST — Freight rates to Hawaii should rise to cover higher operating costs, Matson Navigation Co. argues. The San Francisco firm has asked Federal Maritime Board to boost the charges 9 per cent. Wages and fuel costs are up, says Matson, and repairs and maintenance are more expensive. Last December, FMB approved for Matson a rate increase of up to 13 per cent on cargoes to Hawaii.

PRAISES ICC ACTION—Recent ICC ruling on "hot cargo" labor contracts draws praise from Sen. Curtis, R., Neb. ICC held that common carrier truckers cannot hide behind such contracts as an excuse for not serving the public. This action, as Sen. Curtis sees it, removes one of the unions' secondary boycott weapons. However, he still urges passage of his bill, S. 76, to outlaw the boycotts, no matter how they are carried out.

FANS FRESHEN FOODS—Federal farm experts recommend running fans continuously to keep rail carloads of perishable foods fresh. Vegetables and fruits will stay fresh longer if fans are run after the cars reach terminal markets, they maintain. Auxiliary motors can operate the fans while cars are left standing. Office of Information, Dept. of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., has a description of this practice in Marketing Research Report No. 206.

HEAVY HAULING TOLD—Trucks hauled more than 80 million tons of freight on intercity runs in the third quarter, 1957. For the quarter, as computed by American Trucking Associations, the increase was 6.5 per cent over 1956. All nine U. S. regions registered gains. Greatest rise, 21.8 per cent, was made in the Rocky Mountain region. Middle Atlantic, Southwestern, Southern, and Northwestern areas each gained at least 6 per cent.

TRANSPORTATION OUTLOOK — Prospects for transportation activity will be weighed at a special meeting in Washington on Feb. 25. Some 500 transport industry executives are expected for this National Transportation Outlook Conference. Sponsors are the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and 12 transportation groups. Chairman Oren Harris, D., Ark., House Commerce Committee, will speak to the conferees on legislative topics affecting transportation.



REVOLUTIONARY NEW "SHOCK-ABSORBER" GIVES EXTRA PROTECTION TO FRAGILE FREIGHT

Careful handling of freight has always been a prime concern of Southern Pacific. Four years ago we asked Standford Research Institute to help us develop an even better way to cushion boxcar shipments of fragile freight. The result is something we're proud to report.

It is the Hydra-Cushion Underframe freight car, which employs a unique sliding underframe with a hydraulic pressure device to give extra cushioning to fragile shipments while cars are being coupled or are in transit.

350 Cars. We built 350 of these cars—and added "DF" (damage-free) interior loading equipment and roller bearings for good measure—to assure extra protection to shipments of television receivers, bottled goods, glassware, ceramic tile and numerous other fragile products.

The Hydra-Cushion Underframe freight car is an example, we think, of how Southern Pacific uses modern research in our continuing effort to give the finest freight service.

48 inches short... for bigger payloads in 48 states!

NEW INTERNATIONAL Sightliner gives 10% more payload capacity with shortest tilt-cab of all! And your driver gets "three-windshield" visibility!

Far-sighted fleet operators have been talking about the need for a completely different unit to answer today's hauling requirements—and tomorrow's.

Here it is—the new INTERNATIONAL Sightliner! Measures only 48 inches from the front bumper to the back of the pushbutton-operated tilt cab. Hauls up to 224 cubic feet more legal payload than any other truck in its weight class . . . city to city or coast to coast. And in addition to greater gross and cube, it offers greater efficiency with longest trailers, combinations, dromedary units.

Short 28-inch bumper-to-front-axle dimension gives you maximum gross payloads in any state and under bridge formula restrictions. For bigger payloads and bigger profits, take a good look at the INTERNATIONAL Sightliner.

INTERNATIONAL Sightliner tilt-cab tractor. GCW 50,000 to 65,000 pounds.

Old Tool, New Model

We've just checked the proofs of the listings to be published in the Directory section of this issue. They're clean. In printers' language that means all corrections have been made.

To DA editors, it means that months of work have come to a satisfactory conclusion. As of press time, every bit of information contained in the listings has been checked with over 4000 public warehouse owners and operators. We have their signed statements that the data are correct.

To users of the Directory section, it means that in those pages they can find all the data they need about any public warehouse in the United States. There also is a section that lists key warehouses in those parts of Canada of interest to American industry.

In terms of time, industry's executives can select—in just a few minutes—exactly the kind of distribution facilities and services they want. It might take days, weeks or months to obtain this information first hand. Such a time lag could seriously delay production, sales and marketing programs.

In terms of dollars, the Directory data eliminate extensive travel costs in search of those facts. New sales contracts can be negotiated with absolute assurance that adequate stocks and services can be made available as needed. The high cost of private warehousing can be eliminated. Transportation costs can be reduced. And field stocks serve as collateral for any unexpected financial needs.

Thus, the seemingly dull pages of listings can provide exciting commercial advantages. And, strange as it may seem, nobody knows this better than public warehousemen. They use the data to recommend other warehouses to their clients, to suggest railroad and highway routings paralleling their own, to work out pool car shipments, and so on.

While a great many people know the practical values of the Directory data, we think that most DA readers would find it interesting to see how this compilation is accomplished. Work on the Directory and Where-to-Buy sections actually begins about six months before publication.

It may come as a surprise that, despite the stability of the warehouse industry, about 80 per cent of the listings have at least one correction at press time. Thousands of man-hours and many thousands of dollars are required just to make corrections.

As in any vital business, new warehouse companies are being organized constantly. This means new listings. These have to be coordinated with the others, and the editors must receive the final data as close to press time as possible.

Work pressure at press time is terrific. Everybody—yes, even the publisher himself—burns the midnight oil. Day and night shifts in our own plant—a half city block in area—work smoothly and quickly with the editors.

Even as we've been describing this activity, page proofs are coming in. In a few days, a new model of an old, important and trustworthy tool of physical distribution will be in the mails. Bill, George, Bob, Clara, and the rest of the staff hope you will find it useful.

Of course, there are times when what comes out in print gives the Editor ulcers.

. . . Like the time a man complained that his name was misspelled.

In the next issue, the news editor ran this gem: "Stu Pitt really is Stew Pidd."

. . . Or the time a warehouseman said he would be ruined because his advertisement read, "Famous for FAT Rates." It should have been FLAT Rates.

A correction was published. But the warehouseman 'phoned that he wanted the ad changed back the way it was. "I picked up 50 cars of lard and shortening," he explained.

Pilferage Liability

To The Editor:

Who is liable for pilferage of a railroad box-car when discovery of pilferage and broken seal does not take place until after placement of car on consignee's rail spur?

The car was placed on spot by railroad during week-end, during which, consignee's warehouse operation was closed. Discovery of pilferage and missing seal was made at about 8 am the following Monday.

The Railroad had the authority to spot the car on consignee's trackage.

The extent of pilferage was two cases of canned chicken. Although this is not extreme in itself; it has caused a good deal of controversy which has not subsided after almost two years.

Unfortunately I have no record of a higher court case similar to your involved points of law. Of course, I shall make special effort to locate a relevant case and I shall then again communicate with you. In the meantime, of course, you know that the one responsible in this case is the party in whose control the car was placed at the time of the theft. Quite obviously proof of this fact will be difficult. Personally it is my opinion that this is a "compromise" case. In other words, if a consent decision of liability can be reached, it's settlement in this manner will eliminate a great deal of time, effort and expense. How are you going to prove whether the seal was broken before or after the car was placed on spot? Another point involves actual control over the car at the time of the theft, or thereafter.—Leo T. Parker, DA Legal Consultant.

Hubbard and Company found the easy, simple operation of the P-S Compartmentizer made their loading operations faster, more economical than ever before. During loading, these Compartmentizer gates stand flat against the side wall—don't interfere with workmen or loading vehicles. When lading is in position, the job of securing it for movement is just a matter of closing and locking the gates against the load face. No loose equipment to replace—no guesswork about adequate protection.

Safeguards mixed load by 4 hours!

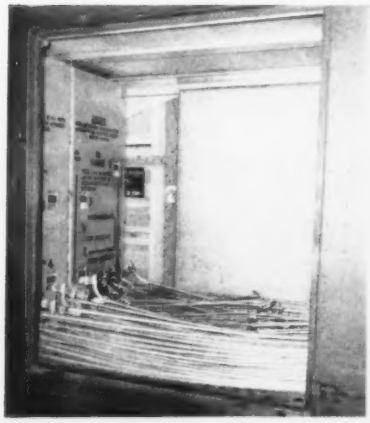
Hubbard and Company, manufacturer of Pole Line Hardware, prefers Compartmentizer cars for all carload shipments.

Secure, economical handling of a mixed load such as this one is a challenging job. Compartmentizer-equipped Southern Pacific box car (No. 695089) was loaded with loose parts such as mast arms, ground rods, anchors and steel ladders along with wire-bound crates and fibre-board cartons. It moved over three roads: The Belt Railway of Chicago, C.&E.I. and The Cotton Belt.

Hubbard and Company found no need for the costly, extra effort of car preparation. Merchandise is simply moved into the car and stowed . . . no jumble of special parts clutter the car. Compartmentizer Gates are moved up to the load face, swung closed and locked securely in position. It's that easy! Loading is fast, easy and economical.

Merchandise reaches your consignee in top condition. And his job is easier, too. He just unlocks the gates, unloads and relocks. No extra work rebracing or leveling remaining loads.

For information on this versatile lading protection tool—the P-S Compartmentizer—and how it can benefit your shipments, write to Pullman-Standard—you'll get an immediate reply.



Arrival—This shipment, Chicago to Plano, Texas, faced the rigors of interchange and high-speed travel. Yet even this doorway load of mast arms and anchor rods shows no jumble or damage. Compartmentizer allowed safe loading of entire car.

Arrival—P-S Compartmentizer gates swing away from the load and stand flush against the car side wall. There are no awkward, heavy parts to clear out of the working area . . . no torn up dunnage. Dock crews move rignt in and unload.

Arrival—This mixed load of boxes and guy wire protectors shows the range of Compartmentizer versatility. With most any size, shape or type packaging, the Compartmentizer provides maximum protection at all times without special adjustments.

TIPS ON TRUCKS

Compact, maneuverable . . . and electric

Tight quarters or congested areas need pose no special material handling problems. Not when you stop to consider the highly efficient, powerful package in compact space afforded by one of the many variations of electric trucks on the market today. Name your particular problem—and there is literally an electric truck engineered for the job.

Versatile, maneuverable, easy to inch and turn, electric trucks provide the smooth, even power required for stacking the most fragile cartons ceiling-high. And from the standpoints of fast operation, cleanliness, quiet and low maintenance . . . electric trucks tell quite a powerful story.

Little wonder today that efficient, economical material handling is synonymous with electric trucks.

The battery's the thing

But even with an electric truck, you can't get more out than you put in. That's why it becomes so important today—considering all the power attachments—to pack as much possible power into the truck you can. Not just a battery . . . but a C & D extra-capacity Slyver-Clad® battery. Longer, heavier plates in the standard-sized tray assure you of plenty of power for the toughest jobs.

(Why not check on the C & D story of "more power for your electric trucks" through advanced design and industry-proved, exclusive Slyver-Clad construction. Just send for the literature offered in advertisement at right.)

A matchless combination

Speed warehousing; up efficiency; hold maintenance costs 'way down

Trucks electric . . . powered by C&D

John Sexton and Company, Chicago manufacturers and wholesalers of fine food products, squeezed extra storage capacity out of its new 175,000 square-foot warehouse by narrowing aisle width to a minimum.

Compact electric fork-lift trucks—powered by C & D Slyver-Clad® batteries—maneuver deftly in the most congested areas. The battery-powered trucks speed operations, boost handling efficiency, and keep maintenance costs low. And thanks to C & D's extra battery capacity, there's power to spare, even when stacking large pallet loads of goods ceiling-high.

Another matchless combination: electric trucks . . . powered by high-capacity C & D Slyver-Clad batteries!

It pays to see why "C & D is a better battery buy"

See how C & D's advanced principles of design and extra battery capacity cut material handling costs . . . give your trucks a power boost.

A Shipper View Of Tariff Dangers

Fines and imprisonment for violations of interstate commerce laws apply with equal force to shippers, consignees, carriers

TO ENFORCE compliance, the Interstate Commerce Act provides penalties for violations which apply with equal force to shippers, consignees and carriers.

In a recent one-year period 314 criminal cases were tried under interstate commerce laws. Of these, 296 resulted in fines against carriers and shippers totaling over $180,000.

The Act is divided into four parts, each based on various modes of surface transportation.

Rail, Pipe Line

Part I applies to railroads and pipelines. Under it, penalties apply to any person, corporation or company, any agent or officer of the company, who shall knowingly and willfully, directly or indirectly, himself or by employe, agent, officer or otherwise with or without consent or connivance of the carrier or its agent, violate the Act. Violation of the rate or refund provisions is fraud. The shipper or consignee may be subject to a fine not exceeding $5000 and imprisonment of up to two years for each offense.

The same penalty is prescribed if shippers or consignees induce or attempt to induce carriers to discriminate unjustly. In addition, such shipper or consignee shall be held liable, together with the carrier, in any action to be brought by any consignor or consignee discriminated against.

It also is unlawful to offer a bribe to any person with intent to influence his decision on supply, distribution, or movement of cars. Conviction carries a fine of not more than $1000 and two years imprisonment.

Other Carriers

Penalties under the motor carrier part of the act are provided for those convicted of similar violations. Persons found guilty can be fined not more than $500 for a first offense and not more than $2000 for subsequent offenses.

Water carriers and their shippers are regulated by similar provisions. Upon being adjudged guilty, a violator can be fined up to $5000.

Freight Forwarders

Section 421 (c) covers freight forwarders. It states that any person who knowingly violates rate regulations, with or without consent or connivance of the forwarder, shall be fined up to $500 for the first offense and up to $2000 for any subsequent offense.

In addition to these penalties, the various parts of the Act prohibit carriers from disclosing certain information to any person other than the shipper or consignee. This applies to information that may be used to the detriment of the shipper. It includes the nature, kind, quantity, destination, consignee, and routing of shipments. It also is unlawful to solicit or knowingly to receive this information.

Maximum fines are: Rail or pipe line $1000, water $2000, and motor carrier and freight forwarder $100, first offense, and, $500 subsequent.

Bills of Lading

The Interstate Commerce Act requires common carriers to issue receipts or bills of lading for the transportation of property. The Bills of Lading Act defines these by type. Any person who violates the Lading Act or who knowingly or with intent to defraud, falsely makes, alters, forges, counterfeits, prints, or photographs any bill of lading purporting to represent goods received for transportation is guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon conviction, he and any person aiding him face up to a $5000 fine and five years in prison.

Tariffs and classifications contain various specifications, restrictions, and conditions. These may deal with preparation of goods and preparation of bills of lading for certain articles or certain kinds of containers. Usually different rates are provided for various kinds of containers. Shippers should guard against misstatements of facts in bills of lading in order to secure lower transportation charges. This is not only morally wrong; it may result in fine or imprisonment.

The Elkins Act

The Elkins Act broadens the Interstate Commerce Act in the following way:

It shall be unlawful for any per-

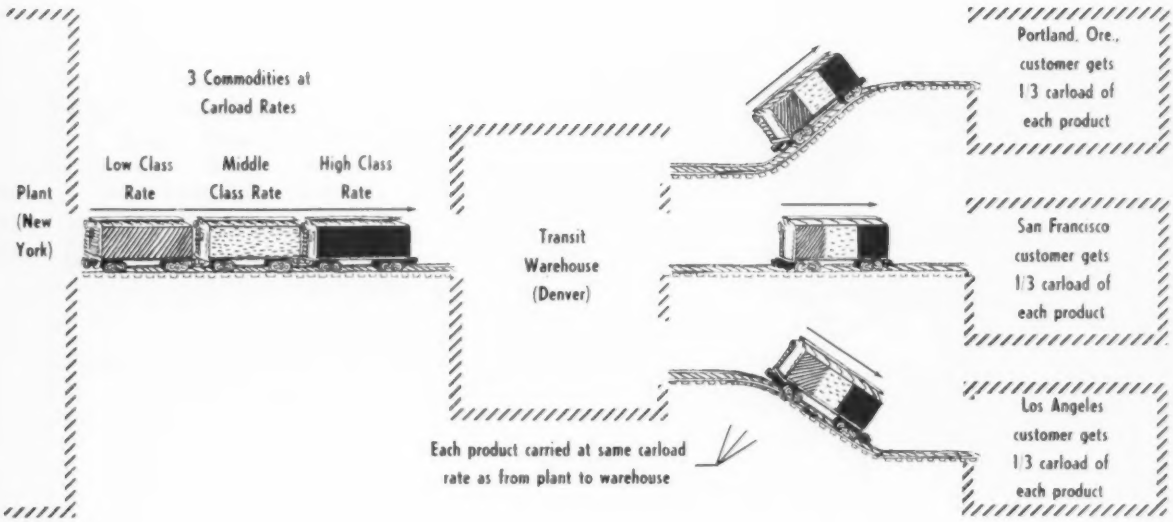
Transiting—Revolution in Large companies cut distribution costs while smaller firms



TWENTY to thirty carloads per day, in and out, for one customer—the prediction of an optimistic public warehouseman? It might have been ten years ago but not today.

Today, there are at least 50 public warehouses across the country handling 10-30 carloads a day for one customer. Even more revealing is the fact that not only one manufacturer but more than 10 major producers in a variety of industries are following this new distribution pattern. This is the story of the revolution taking place in the warehouse industry.

New Pattern

The warehouse industry, today, is on the threshold of an entirely new pattern of distribution—distribution center warehousing. Only the beginning phase of a new concept, it encompasses the physical distribution of goods from plant to storage area to point of final consumer market via multi-plant transit stocks.

A decade ago it was not uncommon for a local distributor or retailer in San Francisco or Dallas to wait from 30 to 60 days for delivery after he placed an order in the Eastern markets. Today delivery is made within two days after the order is taken from strategically located distribution center warehouses.

Concept Develops

You may wonder why this sudden change? First are the demands of the buying public, which have more than quadrupled in volume since World War II. Increased population and increased buying power have accounted for this tremendous upsurge.

The demands of our constantly growing population are shattering production records each year and it is estimated that within 15 years we will reach the astounding carloading figure of one million per week, about one-third more than our present average. Of the projected total, it is estimated, about 100,000 carloads will be finished products moving through public warehouses. Here is a real challenge to both the distribution manager and the public warehouseman.

A second reason for this revolution is the fact that 54 per cent of the manufacturer's dollar now goes for distribution services. If the manufacturer is to continue increasing earnings while providing for the customer a better product at a lower price, he must increase his distribution efficiency. Distribution center expand markets

warehousing is today's answer to the demands of industry for faster, more economical distribution of volume consumer freight.

Research Needed

Every large corporation is devoting increased amounts of research to new products; very few have thought about setting up research programs in the field of distribution. This is a vital step that must be taken by industry and public warehouses if we are to meet the challenge of a growing and restive world demanding more and more production at lower and lower unit costs.

The warehouse industry, one of the oldest in commerce, only now comprehends its full potential. It has now reached a major place in every line of commerce. To continue its growth, the industry must engage in aggressive research. It should join with industry leaders in setting up programs to study and apply automated materials handling, electronic order filling, and integrated data processing.

Within the next two decades we can look forward to distribution center warehouses that will be at least 50 per cent automated. Orders will be filled by punched cards and push button controls. Machines automatically activated by tape will deliver goods to car platforms. The public warehouse buildings will be automated machines.

What Is the Concept?

Distribution center warehousing involves the setting up of large transit warehouse stocks of from 50 to 500 carloads of a manufacturer's complete line of products at key points. These distribution center warehouse systems use from one to 15 public warehouse locations throughout the U. S. The objective is for a manufacturer to ship from one or many plant locations into strategically located warehouses on a transit basis. Within a short period, he can reship in mixed carloads or truckloads under a transit arrangement. This plan permits him to take advantage of the full carload or truckload freight rate, not from the distribution center warehouse location, but from the original producing plant or plants. Furthermore, the through freight rate would apply on each commodity

This off-highway dump trailer, designed and built by Timpte, has a capacity of approximately 50 cu yd. It is 9 ft wide and 11 ft high

Custom-made trailers — tailored to particular jobs—are common in industry. These specialized boxes are being used to advantage by both carriers and private fleet operators.

By building a wide variety of vehicles, and by designing certain trailers for specific jobs, the trailer manufacturers have brought specialization to the field.

Some manufacturers research a particular industry, then build a box to meet the requirements. Others invite the customer to submit job and vehicle specifications. Still others have broadened their lines to such an extent that standard trailers can be selected to fit almost any job.

Shown on this and the two following pages are just a few of the "tailored trailers" being marketed today.•

Slide Rule Savings in Palletization

A new Navy slide rule permits quick, easy selection of most efficient pallet pattern for any size container on 40x48-in. pallet

A SLIDE rule approach to pallet pattern selection may become industry's most important tool in the search for more efficient palletization. A new "Container Selection Slide Rule" has been developed by the Bayonne (N. J.) Research and Development Facility. The Facility is an activity of the U. S. Navy's Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

The rule provides a quick and easy method for determining the most efficient patterns for shipping and storing containers of commonly used sizes on 40 x 48-in. pallets. Only those patterns which give efficiency of 80 per cent and over for a given container are shown.

Only interlocking patterns are used. The Facility is working on a new rule for non-interlocking and composite patterns.

The simple device can be used by practically any employe after only a few minutes of instruction. The container's length and width are determined first. These figures are set on the slide rule to show the pattern number. If the boxes will fit any one of the 113 patterns shown, an efficiency of 80 per cent or over is achieved. This is based on using the 40 x 48-in. pallet with an allowable overhang to 43 x 52 in.

In cases where no pattern is shown for a particular container size, the palletizing process will be less than 80 per cent efficient. Where more than one pattern is shown, the listing is in decreasing area efficiency. This means that the user should select the top number wherever possible.

The rule is not available for civilian use. However, on the two following pages DISTRIBUTION AGE has reproduced material from which the reader can manufacture his own rule.

The DA rule represents a slight revision of the Navy version. Only 94 patterns are shown, compared to the Navy's 113. The reduction was made by eliminating the extremely small-size packages. The Navy rule includes a range of containers from 5 to 21½ in. wide, and from 6½ to 43 in. long. Minimum width was increased to 8 in. on the DA rule. All other dimensions remain the same.

This change was made to make the rule easier to reproduce and simpler to operate. A survey indicated that a great majority of DA readers are not concerned with palletizing containers less than 8 in. wide. Most of the extremely small packages are repacked in larger cartons before they are palletized.

Space Savings

Actual savings in warehouse and transportation space can be substantial when unit loads are planned. The Navy has computed the following examples, using 10 per cent as an average gain:

Highway Truck: An additional 1350 lb and 45 cu ft may be realized in a standard 24-ft highway truck loaded two pallets wide, one high and five along the length of the truck. An average net of 45 cu ft per pallet and an average density of 30 lb per cu ft are assumed.

Boxcar: An additional 3½ tons and 230 cu ft may be realized in a standard 50-ft boxcar with pallets loaded two high, two wide and 13 along the length of the car. An average net of 45 cu ft per pallet and an average density of 30 lb per cu ft, are assumed.

Warehouse: An additional 900 tons and 60,000 cu ft may be realized in a 200 x 600-ft warehouse. A floor area utilization of 50 per cent, a stacking height of 10 ft and an average density of 30 lb per cu ft are assumed.

The slide rule not only provides an efficient means of arranging containers on a pallet, but it also serves as a useful guide for selecting optimum size containers.

Master Charts

Although the rule is not available for civilian distribution, the technical report on which the rule patterns were based can be obtained. The publication is called "Container Size and Pallet Pattern Selection Criteria for Use on 40 x 48-in. Pallets." It may be had by writing to Office of Technical Services, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C. It costs $3. The publication's number is OTS PB-111845.

In the complete report are six master graphic selection charts covering 172 patterns in some 20,000 sizes. All have area efficiencies of 80 per cent or greater. In addition to giving the most efficient patterns for containers, the book allows selection of container sizes which can give the greatest efficiency when alternate sizes are permissible.

Patterns in the book are interlocking, non-interlocking and composite. The charts in the book can be taken out and tacked on the wall for inspection and referral.•

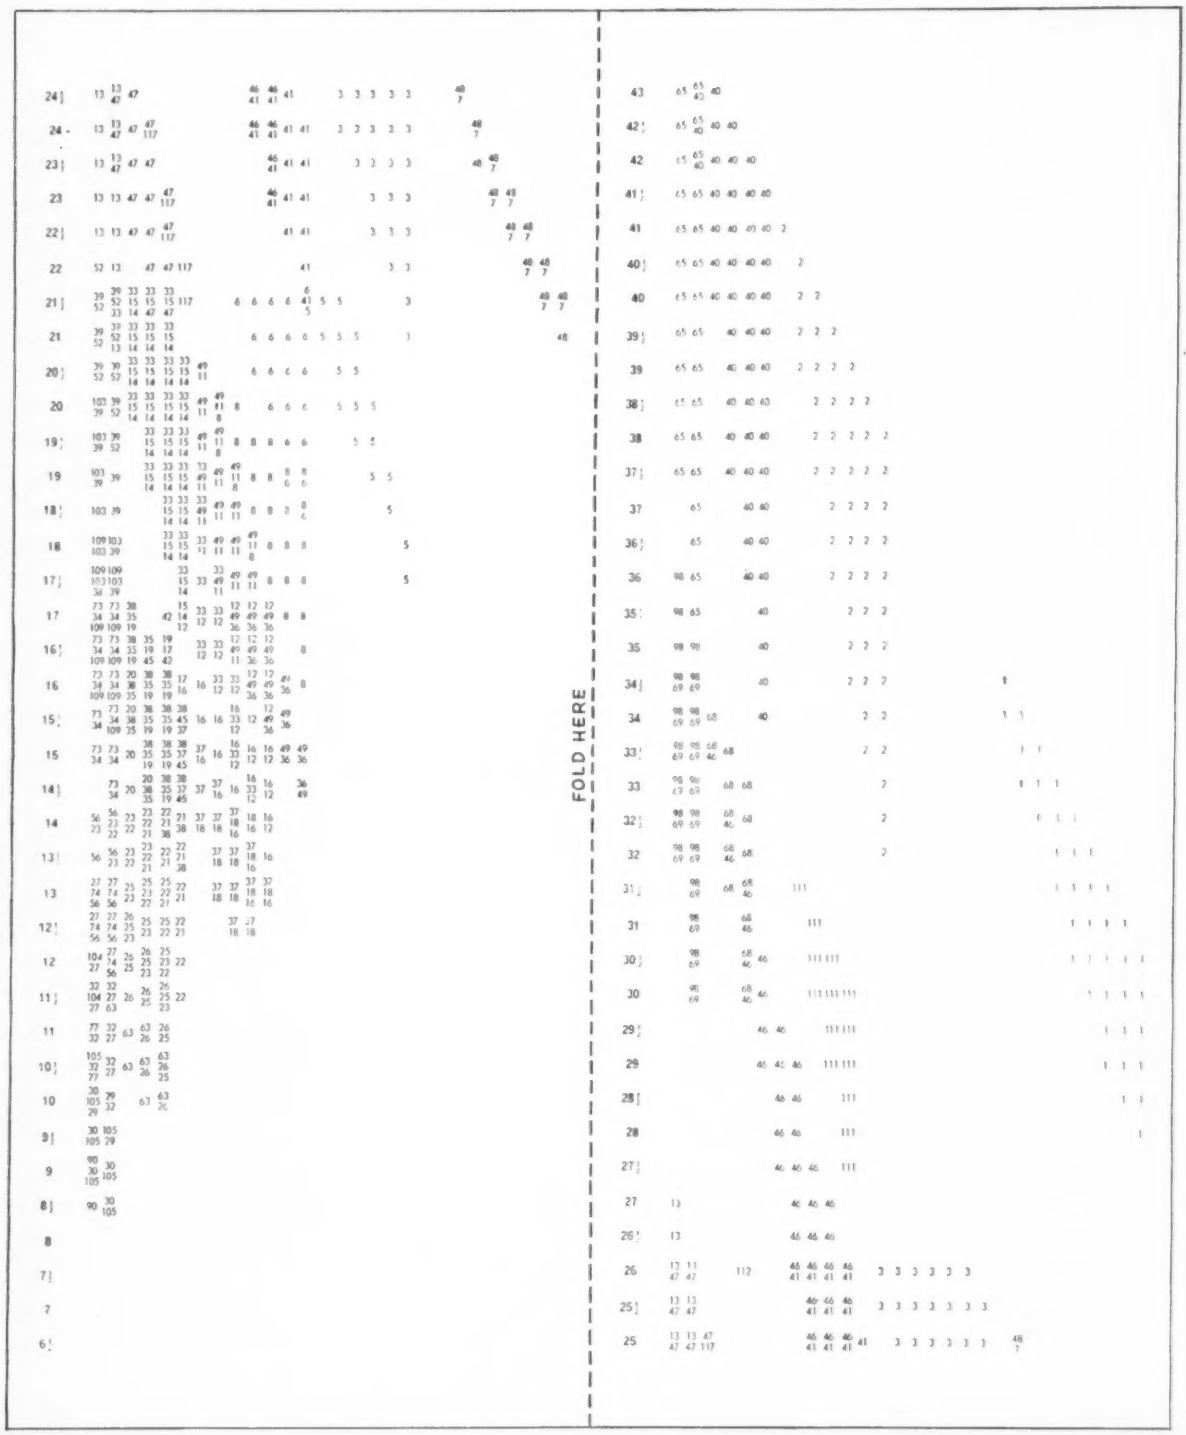
Instructions

1. The chart below is the "slip-stick" portion of the slide rule. Cut it out carefully along the inner edge of the solid rule.
2. Fold it along the center dotted line.
3. Cut a piece of thin cardboard or heavy paper the exact size of the folded sheet.
4. Use a thin coat of rubber cement to fasten the sheet to the board. The sheet should be folded around the board. Extreme care should be taken in cementing the sheet to the board. Wrinkles or creases will make the finished rule inaccurate.
5. The "slip-stick" should be finished by folding a strip of cellophane tape around all four edges.
6. "Slip-stick" fits into finished portion on opposite page.



Instructions

1. The chart below is the outer, or fixed portion of the slide rule. Cut it out carefully along the outer or solid rule.

2. Cut a piece of thin cardboard or heavy paper the exact size of the sheet, minus the 1/8-in. space between the solid and dotted rules on the left-hand side of the page.

3. Cement the sheet to the board, leaving the 1/8-in. strip as a flap.

4. Cut out horizontal slots as indicated.

5. Score along the center dotted line and fold in half.

6. Fold 1/8-in. strip around board and cement to the opposite side.

7. Finish edges with cellophane tape.

Shorter Straddle Truck

Automatic Transportation Co. is producing an electric powered pallet-type straddle walkie stacker, Model WAT. By using a newly designed powerhead, reduction of truck length was achieved. Aisle requirements thus were cut. It is especially adaptable to pallet rack storage. The new walkie reaches up to 130 in. with standard uprights of 83 in. It is available with either single or double mast. The 4000-lb capacity model uses telescopic uprights while the 6000-lb model is equipped with non-telescopic uprights.

Delivery Truck Body

Lunn Laminates, Boyertown Auto Body, and Dow Chemical have combined in producing a new delivery truck body. Lunn Laminates, Inc. molded components for the forward-control cab of fiberglas laminates with polyester resins. Reinforced plastics were selected because of their strong, lightweight, long-lasting, non-rusting and weatherproof characteristics. Dow Chemical's magnesium alloy is used for the streamlined truck body. Boyertown Auto Body's development and engineering facilities produced and assembled the delivery body. The 10 ft. lightweight truck has a 365 cu ft capacity. Also available is a 12 ft body of the same design and materials with a greatly increased cubic payload capacity. Full opening rear doors permit 100 per cent use of capacity. A curved glass corner windshield provides maximum visibility.

Bumpers Stop Dragline

A new safety device for automatic stopping of in-floor dragline carts on striking an obstruction is a pressure-sensitive bumper developed by SI Handling Systems. It is optional on the company's trucks. If the pressure-sensitive bumper touches a worker or object in the dragline path, the tow pin is instantly raised, detaching it from the dragline dog. In a second model, the cart brakes are automatically applied as the pin is lifted. Removal of the obstruction allows the bumper to return to its normal position. The brakes are released and the pin lowered to engage the next dog in the dragline chain.

Automatic Transmission

The recently-introduced Yale line of G-3 gasoline powered industrial lift trucks in capacities of 15,000 to 20,000 lb is available with fully automatic transmission, it has been announced by The Yale & Towne Mfg. Co. The transmission is a combination of a torque converter and a planetary transmission that combines the operational characteristics of a hydraulic torque converter and a fluid coupling for the transmission of engine power. All gears in the planetary transmission are in constant mesh. The gear train is controlled by oil cooled friction clutches which are applied hydraulically, and spring released to provide forward and reverse travel without the use of a clutch pedal.

Automatic Dockboards

A new concept in dockboard design makes it possible to install a new automatic dockboard to existing docks without expensive alterations. The new model, a product of the Kelley Co., Inc., is simply bolted to the top of the dock. A new counterweighting system is mounted on the face of the dock between two bumpers. No electrical, air, or hydraulic power is required. The truck lowers and raises the ramp by backing up to or driving away from the dock. Standard models are 6 ft wide and 8 or 10 ft long. Roll-over capaiity is 12,000 lb.

MH Power Package

A new power package that permits use of diesel-electric power on materials handling trucks has been announced by The Ready-Power Co. It is designed for the company's RD Series of diesel-electric units. It not only generates electric power for truck movement but also produces hydraulic power without intermediate electric motors. Equipped with these units, RD Series trucks operate at a constant speed from no load to full load. This assures maximum full economy for large trucks from 30,000 lb to 200,000 lb capacity. Because motors and contactors are eliminated, maintenance is reduced.

Multi-Purpose Attachment

A new multiple-purpose attachment for fork trucks—designed to economically handle numerous odd and varied-sized cartons in small quantities without time consuming changing of attachments—has been developed by Baker-Raulang Co. Included are a side shifter, a lift extender, a carton lip, a finger lift and a pair of hinged forks. The multi-handling attachment enables fork truck users to pick up large or small loads, regardless of shape or size, haul them to various points and unload them in seconds. The attachment: Handles ordinary pallet loads; operates as a side-shifting attachment to spot loads in tight areas and close to columns and walls; hauls and stacks large cartons by the piggy-back method suspended on the finger lift; handles extremely high loads by the carton lift device; eliminates binding strap breakage because of normal carton lip distortion; removes highly stacked heavy appliances by unique hinged fork method.

Portable Lift

Stratton Equipment Co. has introduced a new multi-purpose portable lift. The lift converts to any one of five special units—platform lift, fork lift, barrel lifter-tipper-stacker, crane and bumper jack. Converting is accomplished in seconds without tools. Equipped with finger tip controls, unit lifts loads electrically. It's power unit has a built-in charger and special housing for easy servicing.

Four-Wheel Truck Series

A new line of four-wheel magnesium floor trucks has been announced by Magline Inc. Many new features have been incorporated. They include: smooth deck with rolled edges to protect loads and floor fixtures, round corner castings for extra strength, reversible tubular handles for installation in corner sockets at either end. Capacities are 500, 1200, and 1500 lb.

Racks for Pallets

The Artco Corp. is producing a new line of frames which, when mounted on pallets, permit the stacking of odd-shaped palletized items. Known as

"Pal-Stak" they are designed to provide multiple stacking of cumbersome palletized warehouse materials. They can be knocked down or assembled without the use of bolts or pins.

Strapping Stretcher

A new light-weight steel strapping tool has been manufactured by Acme Steel Co. The new B5 stretcher is said to provide faster, easier tensioning of steel strapping. This tool is precision balanced so that strap can be applied with ease from any direction with the tool in any position. The stretcher is available in a light, medium or heavy-duty model to fit the particular job. The three models together are engineered to be used with every strap size from ¼ x .010 in. to ¾ x .035 in.

Circle 110 on Card, Page 51

Under-Running Cranes

Becker Crane & Conveyor Co. has introduced a new line of low cost heavy-duty cranes. Built in capacities from 1-10 tons and for spans up to 50 ft, the new cranes include both hand and motor-driven models. Of under-running design, they operate on the lower flange of two parallel runways.

They may be equipped with an interlocking device which permits the hoist to leave the bridge and move to another crane or monorail.

Circle 111 on Card, Page 51

Roller-Type Glue Gun

A roller-type glue gun which applies a ribbon coating of glue to any flat surface has been developed by John P. Fox Co., Inc. Of stainless steel construction and non-clogging design, it cuts gluing costs, minimizes operator fatigue, eliminates waste, and speeds the gluing cycle. It is produced in widths from ¼ in. to 4½ in. Applications include carton sealing, paper converting, and wood working.

Circle 112 on Card, Page 51

Tilt-Cab Tractors

Diamond T is introducing a tilt-cab vehicle featuring an extra-heavy-duty gasoline or LP-gas power plant. Applications will be as highway tractors with maximum payloads, the company predicts. Gcw rating for the two-axle units is 65,000 lb and is upped to 76,000 lb with tandem rears. These 1958 trucks feature an all-aluminum safety tilt-cab which is counter-balanced and tilts manually. Access to the entire engine-transmission-radiator area is provided. The new truck is powered by a Hall-Scott 590 Spartan engine. An engine weight of 1275 lb permits added payloads of up to 1500 lb.

Circle 113 on Card, Page 51

Elevator Leveler

Rotary Lift Co. has announced a new two-way leveling mechanism for oil-hydraulic elevators. This mechanism is included as an integral part of an oil-hydraulic control mechanism with unitized construction. It consists of a combination of oil valves operating within one housing to control the movements of an oil-hydraulic elevator. The two-way leveling feature causes an elevator traveling upward or downward to decelerate at a given distance before reaching a floor level. The elevator then moves to a smooth and accurate stop within ¼ in. of the landing level.

Bulk Storage System

Butler Mfg. Co. has engineered a complete bulk system for all free flowing dry granular materials. The system is developed easily from prefabricated steel storage tanks and different types of conveying equipment. The equipment includes augers, buckets, elevators, belt conveyors, and pneumatic filling kits. The bolted tanks provide storage at a fraction of the cost of welded tanks. Dry materials are kept safe from contamination and moisture damage. There is a wide range of tank sizes from 2.1 to 34.8 ton capacities.

Circle 115 on Card, Page 51

High-Capacity Batteries

Two new lines of higher-capacity motive power batteries introduced by C & D Batteries, Inc. are designed to equip electric industrial trucks with increased power. Called Type HC and Type CMS, the new batteries have longer, heavier plates and C & D Five - Fold Slyver - Clad construction. Battery sediment space is reduced to a minimum, allowing use of longer plates. The HC battery has the same over-all dimensions as the industry's former standard of 60 ampere hours per positive plate. It will also supplant C & D's Type HA 66 ampere hour cell by providing in the same space a rated capacity of 72 ampere hours per positive plate when discharging at its 6-hour rate. The CMS line, having a rated capacity of 55 ampere hours per positive plate at the 6-hour rate, have been especially designed for application to low silhouette, safety silhouette, or low profile type of center control sit-down model fork trucks having over-all collapsed mast heights of approximately 72 in.

Circle 116 on Card, Page 51

In-Floor Conveyor Belt

Flat-top conveyor belting for installation in "moving sidewalk" type of materials handling systems is a new product of May-Fran Engineering Inc. The end-curved, precision formed, interlocking and overlapping belt links provide a flat, almost smooth carrying surface. This belting is capable of negotiating convex or concave curves with maximum safety. The belting provides all of the advantages of ordinary slat-type conveyor belt in addition to eliminating the operating hazards inherent with slats.

Circle 117 on Card, Page 51

Portable Bag Closer

A new development announced by the Dave Fischbein Co. makes possible tape-bound closures with a portable machine. The new tape-binding attachment for the company's portable bag closer produces secure tape-bound closures on all kinds of multi-wall paper bags. An attached knife severs tape and thread simultaneously after the closure is made. The binder can be quickly removed from the bag closer to permit the machine to be used for textile bags.

Circle 118 on Card, Page 51

Cushion-Tired Trucks

An all new line of cushion-tired lift trucks in the 6000, 7000 and 8000-lb range has been released by Hyster Co. Called the Space Saver series, the new models have emphasis on job engineered components and the placement of controls for operator comfort, convenience, and efficiency. Superior maneuverability of the trucks is attributed to a short turning radius and power steering, a standard item of the new line. A high torque engine, oversized, self - adjusting brakes, and a two-speed, constant mesh transmission, and low mast height are included among features of the new trucks. As optional equipment, the line can be equipped with a completely automatic power shift Hystamatic drive unit that provides various power ratios for all speed and grade requirements.

Basic Weight Classifier

A new basic weight classifier for classifying, and for process control, of products and packages by weight, has been marketed. Adjustable crystal photocells are mounted adjacent to the visual dial on the Exact Weight shadograph scale. The photocells provide a precise electric signal when the pre-set weight limits, or allowable tolerance settings, are reached. The scale used in the Classifier is offered in 34 different models. Capacities range from 2000 milligrams up to 100 lb. It is manufactured by the Exact Weight Scale Co.

Belting for Inclines

A cross-corrugated belt designed by the New York Rubber Corp. is particuarly suited for use on steeply inclined conveyor systems. The ribs are so flexible that they deflect under load and provide a firm non-slip grip on packages moving up inclines at angles up to 45 deg. High resistance to slippage permits shorter flights for conveyors in new installations. In existing installations, the belt reduces slippage.

Flexible Rubber Doors

Candoor Engineering Co. has added corrugated aprons to its line of flexible rubber doors. The doors are designed for use in warehouse and storage, loading and unloading dock, and production areas. The aprons were added to stiffen the door at the bottom. In spite of increased stiffness as a whole, the manufacturer claims that more resiliency is added locally by the cushioning action of each corrugation.

Cable Reel Truck

An electric walkie truck for handling cable reels of varying sizes has been developed by Lewis-Shepard Products, Inc. It is produced in capacities up to 20,000 lb. The maximum cable diameter that it can handle is 90 in. and the minimum is 36 in. Maximum reel width is 68 in. No manual adjustments of the hooks are required for the full range of diameters. Twin hydraulic cylinders are synchronized to lift simultaneously.

Circle 123 on Card, Page 51

Rubber Tired Wheels

Demountable rubber-tired wheels as strong as molded-on wheels are an addition to the products of Bond Foundry and Machine Co. To eliminate any shearing strain on the bolts and to simplify assembly, the two sections are keyed to fit. Because the tire can be replaced in a matter of minutes, downtime is reduced. Replacement costs are cut since the tire rather than the whole wheel is replaced. The hub is an integral part of one flange; it is impossible for the hub to become loose between the flanges. The two keyed flanges fit together easily and surely.

Conveyor Take-up

The M-H Standard Corp. announces an automatic take-up end for its Armorbelt metal belt conveyor. This feature assures proper belt tension at all times and makes the conveyor ideal where there is considerable expansion and contraction of the belt. This, together with the self tracking qualities of Armorbelt, means that once the take-up is set at installation, it never needs to be touched throughout the life of the conveyor.

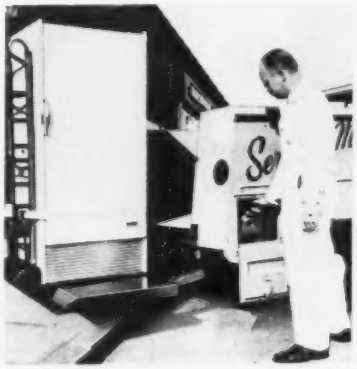
Circle 125 on Card, Page 51

Elevating Tailgate

A new elevating tailgate, produced by H. S. Watson Co., can be mounted on the frame of a pickup truck with four bolts. It requires no protrusions or posts above the truck body. The tailgate is 12 or 6-volt battery-electric-hydraulic powered. The reservoir, pump, valve, and control switch are all in one unit. This control panel mounts in a convenient place on the side of the truck body. The tailgate will lift up to 800 lb in five seconds.



The powered model has a safety switch which stops the load the moment the operator takes his hand off the control lever.

Free-Lift Increase

Truck-Man Division, The Knickerbocker Co. announces the new Tri-Free-Lift Mast available on all its fork truck models. According to the company, the Tri-Free-Lift Mast combines a higher lift with a lower down height and a very high free lift. Available in three lifts—136½, 145½, and 181½ in., the masts have respective down heights of 68, 71, and 83 in. On the same Tri-Free-Lift Mast, maximum free lift varies from 45½ in. on the 136½-in. lift to 60½ in. of free lift on 181-in. lift. All three Tri-Free-Lift Mast heights may be obtained with either 4,000, 5,000 or 6,000 lb capacities at 24-in. load center.

Circle 127 on Card, Page 51

Elevating Forks for Lift

Elevating forks for attachment to low-mast lift trucks are a product of Little Giant Products, Inc. They increase the maximum lifting height of a fork truck while retaining a low collapsed height. They are excellent for work in box cars, trucks, and warehouses with high headroom but low doorways. The attachment becomes an integral part of the lift truck. A few inches or as much as five feet can be added by this attachment. Four models, ranging from 2000-10,000 capacity, are being produced.

Circle 128 on Card, Page 51

Cab-Forward Truck

Development of a versatile new cab-forward type truck, featuring several engineering advances, was announced recently by Mack Trucks, Inc. It is adaptable both for light and heavy hauling in the city or over the road. The new models will be produced for use as four or six wheel trucks or tractors. They will be offered with either gasoline or diesel engines. This is said to be the first cab-forward type with set-back front axle capable of accommodating a diesel engine over 200 horsepower. The line is divided into two series. One has a 28,000 lb gvw while the other is rated at 30,000 lb gvw.

Circle 129 on Card, Page 51

Trailer Suspension Change

Brown Trailers Inc. has completed a year's intensive testing of its new cushionair suspension and now is offering it on all aluminum trailers. Brown claims that the suspension is a profitable answer to the need for smooth, shockless cargo transportation. It smothers all types of road vibrations, protecting the trailer and cargo and cutting driver fatigue. Spring deflection is eliminated since automatic leveling valves assure a constantly level floor whether the trailer is empty, partly loaded, or full. This makes possible a lower floor level, company officials explain, with a greater inside height for greater payload.

Circle 130 on Card, Page 51

Box-Car Loader

The Fowler loader, a fork-truck attachment for loading long bundles into boxcars, now is being distributed by Signode Steel Strapping Co. The loader is simply a long steel arm which slips on lift truck forks. The arm pivots to shift loads 4 ft either side of center, permitting it to place bundles in the far corners of boxcars without going inside the car. A pivot at the outer end of the arm permits the load to be swung a full 360 deg. The combination of swing shifting and side shifting with the 14-ft reach of the arm makes it possible to snake 2-ton loads through a narrow door.

Circle 131 on Card, Page 51

Automatic Segregator

Eliminating the need for several parallel conveyor lines to handle different products is a new handling device called a case goods segregator. It is manufactured by Food Machinery and Chemical Corp. The segregator permits the user to run all his case sizes on a single conveyor. At the point where they are to be separated for storage or shipping, the segregator is installed. As each case enters from the single conveyor line, the segregator measures its height and length with mechanical fingers. Then it sends the case either straight ahead or transfers it to other lines on the right or left. If required, each of these side conveyors can be equipped with segregators and so on until each case reaches its individual conveyor.

Stenciling Set

Speedry Products is offering a new low priced stenciling set for marking wood, paper, metal and plastics. The set contains an envelope of 76 individual letters, an easel of coated paper, strips of masking tape to hold the letters down, and a can of quick-drying ink. To work the set, simply remove the cap from the ink can and rub its mohair head across the letters. The letters are reusable.

Tote-Conveyor Box

Especially designed for service on conveyor lines is a new tote box developed by William Bal Corp. It is made of vulcanized fiber. Its smooth bottom construction functions on skate wheel, roller, or belt systems. There are no protrusions or high spots. Lightweight and durable, the boxes are made to customer's order. They are offered with either tapered or straight sides.

Materials Handling Book

A complete reference work on materials handling, "The Materials Handling Handbook," made its appearance last month.

Sponsored by the American Material Handling Soc. and the Materials Handling Div. of The American Soc. of Mechanical Engineers, it is edited by Harold A. Bolz. Mr. Bolz is associate dean of the College of Engineering, Ohio State University. George E. Hagemann, past chairman of ASME Handling Div., is the associate editor.

The 1750-page volume traces the progress made to date in materials handling. It is divided into 47 sections covering such topics as methods of analyzing problems, principles, procedures and techniques for effective control, design and installation of systems, integration with manufacturing, and selection of equipment. Photographs, charts, tables, and diagrams are used to illustrate the text.

"The Materials Handling Handbook" is published by the Ronald Press, New York, and is priced at $20.

Conveyor Building

A work book on "do-it-yourself" building of power belt and gravity conveyor systems has just been announced. A step-by-step guide in selection, installation and operation of conveyors, it is published by the Conveyor Dept., A. B. Farquhar Div., The Oliver Corp. Typical conveyors are illustrated and described.

Catalog of Trucks

An eight-page catalog describing six heavy-duty all-wheel-drive truck models has been issued by International Harvester Co. All of cab-forward design, the new models are available for either gasoline or LP-gas operation. Two four-wheel-drive models are rated at 18,000 and 20,000 lb gvw. The two six-wheel-drive trucks are rated at 22,000-33,000 lb gvw.

MH Battery Leaflet

Question-and-answer form is used by the Exide Industrial Div., The Electric Storage Battery Co., in a leaflet on fundamentals of battery power for industrial trucks. Questions answered include: "What is meant by capacity 'at the six-hour rate?'" "How does the electrical size of the battery affect industrial truck operation?" "Does battery capacity remain constant throughout its lift?"

Truck Floor Conveyor

A powered floor conveyor for truck or trailer vans is the subject of a new leaflet by H. S. Watson Co. The system consists of several floor channels, a roller chain powered by electric, and movable floor segments. The power unit is controlled by a switch at the back of the truck. A segment is placed at the back end of the van, loaded, then moved forward to make room for another segment. This is repeated until the truck is full.

Fork Truck Safety

Tips on operating fork lift trucks more safely are contained in a two-color brochure available from Lewis-Shepard Products, Inc. Illustrated with cartoon-type drawings, the booklet points out safe operating practices. It will serve as a guide in setting up a training course. Among the topics discussed are selecting operators, classroom instruction, driving instruction, and maintenance responsibilities of the operator.

Automatic Control Catalog

A new catalog entitled "Automation Controls" has just been released for general distribution, it was announced by General Controls Co. The new catalog groups together for the first time a wide selection of devices used in designing automatic systems. There are counting devices, switches, electric valves, actuators, relays, limit controls, time switches, and other accessories.

Palletizing Station

Information on a new palletizing station is presented by Lamson Corp. in a new leaflet. The platform handles two- and four-way pallets up to 48 x 48. It rotates on six heavy-duty, inverted casters.

Hydraulic Hand Lift

A new hydraulic hand lift truck for easier lifting of heavy skid and unit loads has been introduced by Barett-Cravens Co. in a new leaflet. Bulletin 572 describes this heavy-duty lift with a capacity of 4000 lb. Specifications, illustrations, and operating views are given.

Lift Comparison Chart

Potential purchasers of electric fork trucks can now evaluate various types and models through a comparison chart available from Lewis-Shepard Products, Inc. Thirty-one points on which a comparison can be based are listed in the left column. Then there are two columns of blank spaces for entering comparable figures for competing trucks.

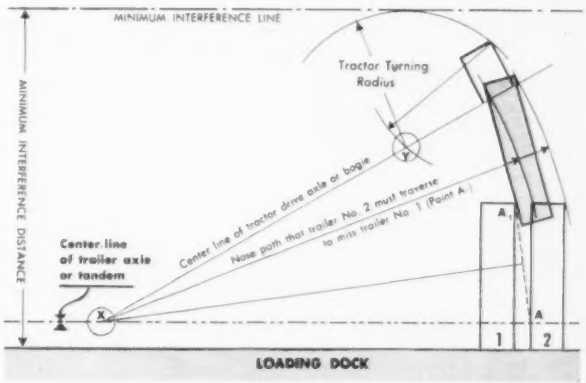
Truck Dock Designers' Handbook Offered by TTM



The planning of a modern dock to serve truck-trailers is explained in a new booklet offered by the Truck-Trailer Mfrs. Assn., Inc.

Filled with diagrams, the book starts by listing the dimension ranges of conventional trailers. There is a map showing rig length limits by states and a diagram of apron space requirements. One diagram (above) along with eight-step instructions enables a warehouse or terminal operator to figure the minimum maneuvering area for his dock. Loading level adjustors also are discussed.

Copies are available at 50-cents each from the Truck-Trailer Mfrs. Assn., Inc., 710 Albee Building, Washington 5, D. C. It consists of 12 pages.

Pallet Boxes, Pallet Loads Teamed for Extra Cubage

A 20-ft stacking height under a 21-ft ceiling can result from mixing pallet loads with pallet boxes, according to this refrigerated warehouse operator

IT IS a mighty important item when, by stacking higher, you gain 22 per cent in cubage in a warehouse. But this space savings becomes doubly significant in a freezer warehouse where you have to cool the unused areas anyway.

This is what Continental Freezers of Illinois, Inc. achieved by rearranging its stacking pattern for many of its products. The company, which stores and freezes foods for the major chains and jobbers in the Midwest, has a 100 per cent palletized operation. Total storage space for its two buildings is 3,600,000 cu ft.

This is how the company went about it. Fomerly, in stacking pallet boxes of merchandise, operators stacked six high or 17 ft. Each pallet box held a 27½-in. high load. However, a 42-in. high packaged load can be carried on pallets. Thus the present method of interspersing two of these pallet loads with four pallet boxes was developed. This has increased stacking heights to 20 ft under a 21-ft ceiling. Another procedure responsible for the increase in useful space is the unitizing of pallet loads by strapping where possible. One example is the strapping of ten to twelve 100-lb boxes of meat to a pallet load. Pallet boxes were formerly used for this purpose. They only held eight boxes.

One Story Building

Continental Freezer, built in 1951, is a one-story operation designed for optimum handling, freezing, storing and shipping of items for the fast growing frozen food industry. The warehouse stores 37-million lb of merchandise in two buildings, and moves 1.5-million lb on a peak day. It contains 3.7-million cu ft of storage space, about two-thirds of which is incoming frozen merchandise for storage and the rest frozen on the premises. Areas are departmentalized for specific temperatures ranging from —40 to +45 deg F. The rooms are refrigerated by blown air from ducts suspended from the ceiling. Cork walls separate the —10 from the —20 rooms, while plywood partitions wall off the blast frozen —40 deg area.

Receiving and shipping facilities have 56 spots for trucks, principally along a 950 ft dock at the north side of the main building. A 24-car rail spur runs between the two buildings. An 80-ft electrically operated bridge over the railroad tracks serves as an access between the buildings, and can be moved clear of the tracks when needed.

Because of the difficulties of operating in sub-zero temperatures, and the need for fast transport, handling equipment has been selected with care. Nineteen 4000-lb capacity fork lifts were selected as the keystone of the operation. When experience showed that exposed parts of the trucks were vulnerable to the corrosive effects of condensation in the cold rooms, the affected parts of the rigs were chromium-plated to counteract this deterioration.

Traffic flows in the warehouse follow relatively simple lines — from shipping and receiving docks

'Kinks' in Tracks Speed Rail Service

Railweight eliminates the problem of binding couplers to permit the weighing of loaded cars in a moving freight train as it enters the yard

A FEW "kinks" in the tracks may produce a general speed-up of railroad freight service for U. S. shippers.

This added burst of speed, estimated at 7.4 per cent, will have an assortment of side benefits. Among these are increasing the freight car supply, detecting dangerous overloads, relieving yard congestion, and adding to railroad profits.

The kinks in the track, known as Railweight, are the basis of a new system for weighing moving rail cars in the train. This system was developed by the International Railroads' Weighing Corp. in cooperation with the Monon Railroad. Tests under operating conditions were conducted at the South Hammond Yard.

In the past, weighing cars while coupled and in motion has been impossible because of the transfer of weight between cars through the bound couplers. One car might weigh "heavy" and the other "light."

Over 22 million cars must be weighed each year at a cost per car estimated at $10.

Weighing is used by railroads to assess charges, determine proper loading, and dispatch engines with known loads so that they can be utilized to capacity. The present procedure is to switch a train to a side track upon arrival at the yard so that cars to be weighed can be separated from non-weighers. Weighers then are placed on a weigh track awaiting a turn at the scale.

An engine is coupled to the string of weigh cars and pushes it to the scale. Each car must be uncoupled manually from the string before it can be weighed. Waiting time for a turn at the scale plus weighing time by this process is sometimes as high as 24 hours.

How It Works

The first kink used by Railweight elevates each car slightly while the second one lowers it. As the cars pass over this slight "hump," regardless of their previous condition, the couplers are aligned so that the car can be weighed without any transfer of weight. The scale weighs each truck separately. The two figures are then added to get the weight of the car. This "two draft" weighing offers the advantage of determining not only total car weight, but also distribution of load. Over-loading of one end of the car, a cause of possible strain on equipment, thus can be detected.

One installation on a classification yard's main incoming or outgoing track can automatically weigh every car passing through the rail center. The recurring impact of coupling and uncoupling as cars are weighed will be a thing of the past and, as a result, a cause of cargo damage eliminated.•

Traffic and Distribution Manager
The National Drug Company

TM to DM—Traffic Grows with Industry

Distribution managers promote efficient operation, paying dividends to many firms

SINCE World War II, the traffic manager has played an important role in modern business directing the efficient movement of both inbound materials and outbound products. The tangible and intangible results of efficient operations have paid large dividends of economy to those companies utilizing the know-how of a specialist in distribution— the traffic manager.

The major functions of the traffic manager are to plan, advise, and direct the transportation affairs of a business. Thus reasonable charges and rates and adequate transportation services are secured.

Training Minded

The traffic manager must be "educational-training minded." Then he will know that functional and routine duties such as rates, routings, classifications, auditing, claims, tracers, records, and handling are being performed competently. The traffic manager must be "administrative-minded." Then cooperation between sales, purchasing, production and the traffic department will attain a high degree.

The traffic manager must be "cost-minded" so as to take advantage of newer transportation methods. These might produce lower charges and better handling procedures, often a source of maximum savings.

The traffic manager's importance to industry is apparent in the above facts. But, in order to serve expanding industry more fully, the traffic manager must advance by education, study, and hard work to the position of transportation and/or distribution manager. After he has prepared himself adequately through training and study, he must sell top management with his newly acquired ability.

Modern Outlook

The transportation-distribution manager should have a modern distribution outlook which could be called "the total distribution approach." This approach should be defined as including the following important phases:

Distribution cost control is the effect of costs on volume, whereas, production cost control is the effect of volume on costs. Management's greatest concern should be the methods of obtaining top efficiency and effectiveness in marketing and distribution operations so as to gain minimum unit costs while net profits are at a maximum. There are two approaches to reducing distribution costs.

First, the destructive approach, calls for eliminating or doing more cheaply. This attack does not get at the cause of the trouble. It may do more harm than good because weakening of marketing procedures or curtailing of services may cut sales volume. Total unit costs would increase instead of being cut.

The second approach is the constructive approach. This approach recognizes that distribution costs do not exist in a vacuum. These costs reflect sales effectiveness, and marketing and distribution policies. The largest returns are paid when you concentrate on increases in your sales effectiveness and total distribution expenditures.

Cost Analysis

Cost analysis—The purpose of this analysis is to locate unprofitable sales or distribution methods, the reasons for the loss, and the action needed to change loss to profit.

Physical distribution — Large areas waiting improvements are in storage, order assembly, handling of orders, (billing, credit, etc.), inventory control, and receiving-shipping - delivery. Standard unit costs for each function should be set up. A comparison of each standard with actual costs should be analyzed for variances.

The physical plants or warehouses should be evaluated for efficiency; single story buildings weighed against multi-story buildings; order make-up considered on assembly line principles; mechanical tabulating equipment studied for preparing invoices, bills of lading, etc.

These are just a few of the many factors subject to improvement. The control of merchandise from the time it comes off the production

"The traffc manager must be 'administrative-minded.' Then cooperation between sales, purchasing, production and the traffic department will attain a high degree."

"The traffic manager must be 'education-minded.' Then he will know that functional and routine duties . . . are being performed competently."

Coverage for Carrier and

By Warren M. Brown
Insurance Consultant

A variety of policies can be written to protect shippers, warehousemen and carriers from many risks of shipping

PRODUCTS moving between a shipper and a user are subject to many risks. Insurance companies are prepared to protect the distribution industry and its customers through a variety of policies.

A. Legal Liability

Transportation insurance to be carried by motor common carriers and warehouse companies will generally be limited to legal liability coverage. (A special Furniture Warehouse policy will be covered in a later article.)

The underwriters make every effort to limit the protection to named perils such as fire, lightning, earthquake, cyclone, tornado, flood, collision, derailment, overturning of vehicle, theft of an entire shipping package and, while on ferries, the usual perils of the seas.

Extending the policy to include other exposures — holdup, riot, strike, and civil commotion—will increase premium charges. Breakage coverage, even with a high deductible, might be quite expensive and difficult to obtain. While it would seem that truckmen could not be held liable for actions of the elements (Acts of God), failure to protect properly the customer's property during the storm or from additional damage afterward is negligence.

"All risk" coverage for truckmen is expensive. However, some companies write "bill of lading" liability for their assureds. They are liable for all the exposures assumed by the truckman in his bill of lading.

For example, if he holds himself responsible for breakage up to $1 per lb, the company likewise is liable up to this limit. Truckmen regulated by ICC or state agencies must answer to the shipper or consignee for all loss. This is stipulated in the endorsement which must be attached to his Transit Legal Liability form. If compelled to pay a claim which, except for the wording in this endorsement, would not be covered under the terms of the policy, the insurance company expects the insured truckmen to reimburse it for the amount paid out. The ICC and various state regulations usually require $1000 insurance per vehicle and $2000 per casualty. Policy limits may exceed greatly these requirements.

The Truckmen's Legal Liability policy may be written as (1) a blanket form with a specified limit applied to each vehicle or (2) on a gross receipts basis. The underwriters intend that a specific risk will develop the same premium under either plan.

B. Private Trucking

Owners goods on owners trucks with a specific limit per vehicle probably can be written at a lower cost. Of course, rates are dependent upon a number of factors — nature of merchandise transported, average length of haul, age and type of trucks and limit of insurance required. A sliding scale of rates usually applies. For example, an average risk might be charged 3 per cent per truck for the first $1000, 2 per cent for the second $1000, and 1½ per cent for the next $1000, etc.

Most shippers need more complete protection on their own merchandise. They seek this coverage for all modes of transit.

Underwriters do not hesitate to afford this "all risk" coverage on owner's goods in transit. But, as previously stated, some difficulty may be encountered if this protection is sought by a for-hire transporter.

forms to outline property covered and perils insured against seldom agree. These contracts have not been standardized. The following clause was used in one policy to describe the warehouseman's operations as respects the protection afforded:

"This policy covers the legal liability of the assured as a Common Carrier and/or Bailee and/or packer and/or crater and/or forwarder and/or warehousemen for or on account of, or by reason of goods, wares or merchandise of any nature, material or description while being transported and/or intended for transportation in or on trucks owned and/or operated by the assured, including the loading and unloading thereof."

The next two paragraphs in this policy defined the extent of the insurance. These read:

"It is hereby understood and agreed that this policy is extended, subject to all its terms, limits and conditions, to cover the legal liability of the assured for goods, wares, or merchandise held in terminals, depots, transfer stations, warehouses or other places of storage or deposit awaiting shipping instructions; or while at points of shipment while being packed and/or prepared and/or loaded for shipment as provided for herein; excluding, however, goods, wares or merchandise on the premises of the assured,.... ..... So You Have to Make a Speech

A simple 16-point checklist to help make your next speech a better one—three minutes of reading time that will pay years of dividends

MOST industry executives are called on from time to time to speak before meetings of trade associations, civic groups, employe gatherings, etc. The impression created by the speaker is extremely important to his firm's public and community relations program. Here is a 16-point checklist to help make your next speech a better one.

The Checklist

1. Say it your own way. Use the style and language you use in everyday life. If you cite reference data gathered from another source, translate it into your own language.

2. Change the pitch of your voice. A monotone is monotonous.

3. Talk several degrees louder than your normal tone. Not only will you be sure to be heard, but your talk will become more animated.

4. Keep your points low in number. Attempts to flood the audience with a deluge of facts and figures can be disastrous.

5. Do not toy with physical objects, such as necktie, watch chain, etc. Such actions are distracting.

6. Look good. Appearance is all important. It is unwise to appear for an evening speaking engagement in the same suit of clothing that you have been wearing all day, or without a fresh shave.

7. Avoid repetition. A pet cliche or a pet word, if repeated too often, can ruin an otherwise good speech.

8. Stand still. Speaker's platform gymnastics will drive your audience to utter boredom.

9. Don't droop. To avoid poor posture some speakers prefer to stand on their toes throughout the entire address.

10. Put on a good show. Your talk should be the highlight of the program. To make it so, plan in advance and be sure of your material.

11. Work hard on a good ending. Top notch material can be ruined by a poor or weak closing.

12. Never apologize. The weather, your voice, the hour, length of your speech, etc., are best left unmentioned if you feel they deserve apologies.

13. Time yourself carefully The most common mistake of first-time speakers is to run either too long or too short. Never exceed the time allotted by the program chairman.

14. Be careful of jokes. Use them only if they make a point.

15. Surprise your audience. An unusual twist can take the curse off of what promises to be a dull presentation.

16. Be sure of pronunciation.

son, persons or corporation to offer, grant, give, solicit, accept, receive any rebate, concession or discrimination in respect to the transportation of any property . . . whereby any such property shall by any device whatever, be transported at a less rate than that named in the tariff. . . .

Fines for violation of these provisions range from $1000 to $20,000. Maximum imprisonment is two years.

In construing these provisions, the violation of any person acting for or employed by the shipper shall be considered as the act of the shipper as well as that of the person. This act provides, in addition to the above, that any consignor or consignee who receives or accepts from a common carrier any valuable consideration as a rebate shall forfeit to the U. S. a sum of money three times the amount received.

Under the Interstate Commerce Act, the offense is the fraud of obtaining transportation at less than established rates by false billing or other devices. Particular devices are specified. Under the Elkins Act, the offense is not the device, but the solicitation or receipt of concession. Fraud is not a necessary element. The purpose of the Elkins Act was to cut up by the roots every form of discrimination, favoritism, and inequality.

The Supreme Court has ruled that a contract by an interstate railroad to pay part of the cost of building the plant of one of its shippers who agreed only to handle goods moved by it is an illegal discrimination and rebate under the Elkins Act. The Court stated that "the object of the Interstate Commerce Act and Elkins Act is to prevent favoritism by any means or device whatsoever and to place all shippers upon equal terms."

A U. S. District Court recently fined a manufacturer $1000 on each of 15 counts for a total of $15,000 plus costs. The company was charged with accepting unlawful concessions in violation of Section 1 of the Elkins Act. The unlawful concession reportedly arose from failure of a railroad to assess and collect, and the shipper to pay storage and demurrage on the shipper's tank cars containing dangerous articles held in the railroad's yard.

Two Violations

In one annual report, the ICC reported conclusion of two cases which charged violations of Section 1. In these, a shipper falsely claimed loss and damage for breakage in carload shipments of clay pipe. These claims were supported by fictitious invoices intended to substantiate excessive prices for the broken material. In one case the shipper entered a plea of nolo contendere and was fined $12,000. In the other the company entered a guilty plea to seven counts. The fine was $10,500.

Two other shippers were fined during the year of the report for receiving unlawful concessions. One, charged on six counts, pleaded nolo contendere and was fined $12,000. The other, entering the same plea to a five-count information, was fined $5000.

At the time of the report, several cases involving unlawful concessions were pending. In one, an agent for a shippers' association was charged on eight counts. The alleged device involved was preparing bills of lading for trailer-load shipments from which billing of certain articles was omitted entirely and on which weights of higher rated commodities were understated and rates of lower rated commodities overstated.

In this connection, it has been held that when two criminal statutes cover the same subject (as Elkins Act and Interstate Commerce Act Section 10 do) prosecution may be sustained under both. In addition, penalities are imposed for intentionally, carelessly, knowingly or voluntarily disregarding the Elkins Act. Violation requires neither evil purpose nor criminal intent.

Enforcement

Application of the Elkins Act is not limited to shippers and carriers; it includes any person or corporation whose intended acts result in transportation of property at less than tariff rates. It is not essential, in order to convict under this statute, to prove that there was cooperation by a common carrier.

The foregoing clearly indicates that shippers and receivers, for their own protection, should acquaint themselves with the various tariff provisions governing their products. Frequently a carrier representative, in his zeal to serve his customers, will do or offer to do some favor which a check of the tariffs will show to be unlawful.

As an example, suppose on an import shipment the consignee did not have a representative at the port to pay the custom duties and the carrier agreed to advance the charges for the consignee. Even though the consignee was a reliable firm and reimbursement was assured, such an accommodation would be unlawful if no provision is made for this service in the tariff.

The ICC recently ruled on a proposed tariff permitting carriers to

The Solution

Water shipment of bulk Coir in quantity direct to Foreign Trade Zone No. 5, Port of Seattle. Warehousing, cutting for individual orders or bulk shipment from Foreign Trade Zone. Final shipment to all U.S. points including U.S. ports closest to Europe.

The Proof

Mr. Mark Seymour, Alison T. Seymour Enterprises, states: "Although used extensively in Europe for more than 50 years, Coir Matting was only recently introduced into the American decorator market. The fact that we can successfully compete for this business in any American market testifies to the ideal combination of water and overland freight rates, shipping service and port facilities we found through the Port of Seattle."

transmit messages by teletype, telegraph, telephone or other means for and without charge to shippers. Sending of these messages was to be dependent upon their referring to a shipment by the carrier.

The ICC said, "While the cost of communication necessary to the conduct of its own affairs is a legitimate expense assumed by every concern engaged in business for profit, the payment of such charges when incurred by shippers, either directly or indirectly, constitutes a rebate or concession and results in lower transportation charges to the favored shippers and a corresponding diminution of the carrier's revenues."

Gifts to Shipper

Considering the questions: "To what extent, if at all, may a motor carrier, lawfully make gifts or donations to a shipper, either consignor or consignee, or to a shipper's representative?" ICC states:

"If a shipper uses the facilities of the carrier to transport property in interstate or foreign commerce, a gift to him by the carrier of anything having a substantial intrinsic value would be deemed a violation of Section 222(c) of the Interstate Commerce Act and would subject both the carrier and the recipient to the penalties therein provided. The distribution of advertising material such as calendars, maps, and similar articles of negligible value in a manner generally recognized as legitimate business practice is not considered a violation of the Act."

Most firms either maintain their own legal staff or retain legal counsel to guard against violation of the anti-trust and other business laws. However, little or no attention is given to the transportation laws. Every firm that ships or receives goods in interstate commerce could do or cause some act which could result in fines up to $20,000 and imprisonment. Yet, a large number of companies do not maintain transportation specialists or traffic departments to avoid such penalties. Frequently transportation matters are left in the hands of a shipping clerk, purchasing agent, or some other person not acquainted with the rules. Thus the possibility of violations is much greater than in those firms which maintain traffic departments with full authority over all shipping and receiving of freight. The saving of a fine alone, not counting any saving in freight charges through better shipping, could more than offset the salary of trained traffic personnel.

Shipper and carrier management should take a greater interest in transportation regulation. Personnel should be reminded constantly to abide by the tariffs.

Sales and other personnel frequently take refresher courses within a company. However, we seldom hear of such meetings for personnel in shipping and receiving. A management sponsored refresher course of this type is a basic step in avoiding penalties. • lines until it is put into the customer's hands should be the responsibility of the distribution manager. The correct location of branches or warehouses in relation to sales centers, and the addition or elimination of warehouses should be analyzed. Judgment should be based on storage cost, transportation costs, and service requirements.

The question of storage of finished goods has several answers—in-plant storage, in-transit warehouses, branch warehouses, or moved directly to the trade. The cost of carrying the inventory also plays a large part in the distribution cost picture. Items such as interest, space, taxes, insurance and depreciation should be searched for possible savings.

Modern handling equipment and methods often repay original investment in a short time. The means of transportation used often needs re-appraising because the cheapest rate is not always best in relation to total distribution costs.

Customer—Order Study—Most manufacturers have a large number of customers who are responsible for a very small part of total sales and gross profits. In most cases a study will disclose that much of the marketing and distribution expenditures are attributed to this small profit. In other words, the small orders cost the most in marketing expense, while the large orders cost the least. Some, but not all of these small orders will prove to be unprofitable.

The causes of this situation could be any number of possibilities such as a sales policy of 100 per cent coverage of the market to an excessively high warehousing-distribution cost factor. An analysis of customers and orders should uncover the unprofitable customers or disclose the minimum size or value of an order that could be profitably filled. Management then could decide if a change in policy from present sales coverage to selective coverage would be beneficial or if higher minimums would satisfy profit requirements.

Most firms will measure the success of their marketing efforts solely by total sales volume, not by total net profit. It is basic that most business executives make marketing decisions unaware of the marketing or distribution costs involved. For this reason a distribution manager can be of utmost service to management by the proper use of a customer and order analysis. The above evaluation shows that the transition from a traffic manager with limited responsibilities of a phase of distribution to the much broader and comprehensive field of transportation-distribution manager is no small move. It will take study, work and determination to make manufacturers accept your newly acquired talents and reward you accordingly. Any improvement of knowledge in your vocation will pay dividends in satisfaction of a job well done as well as financial return.•

The Transportation policy to which the form is attached may contain conditions which affect the coverage in the form. Therefore, it might be well to add the following clause: "The terms and conditions of this form are to be regarded as substituted for those of the policy to which it is attached, the latter being hereby waived."

This clause would probably not be needed if the form were typewritten and the policy a printed contract. Most underwriters and loss adjusters hold that the typewritten form takes precedence over the printed policy conditions and limitations.

D. One Underwriter Group

Some states permit the inclusion of warehouse coverage with the insurance on property in transit under an Inland Marine policy. Where this method of underwriting is not permitted, the protection should be secured from members of the same group of companies. There are a number of overlapping exposures that might be subject to the coverage afforded by either premises or transit forms. In such instances, if separate companies issue policies either or both might deny liability.

E. Combined Policies

At least one company has announced it is ready to write a combined contract of insurance. It will include compensation, general and auto liability and truck cargo coverage. The form will be written on a retrospective plan, a special underwriting method under which a "basic" premium is set up — a percentage of the standard premium—to which is added actual losses sustained and subject to a maximum and minimum charge, both of which are also a percentage of the standard premium. As the handling of claims represents an expense to the company, each claim amount is increased (usually 14 per cent) to cover this service. The final premium must be further increased approximately 3 per cent to take care of the state tax. Of course, this percentage varies with each state.

This company has set tentative

BOND FACILITATES TAYLOR MARKET EXPANSION

Harry W. Taylor, Co., leading suppliers of pipe, valves, and fittings, received an opportunity to enter a new and substantial market in heavy pipe.

The opportunity brought a serious problem of local storage of bulk shipments from the producer and handling reshipment of orders. Unless this problem could be solved, on an economical cost basis, the opportunity for expansion could not be accepted.

Consultation with Bond brought a solution. Bond receives and stores shipments from the producer . . . then processes and ships individual orders as required.

Bond Service solves many problems of physical distribution and market expansion by handling and storing local inventories, and providing space and facilities not otherwise economically available.

eligibility minimum premium requirements of $2000 truck cargo and $5000 compensation and liability.

F. Packing and Storing

Warehousemen and transportation companies offering services which require customers' property to be stored for longer than the usual "in transit" period should make certain the policy conditions and clauses provide the necessary extended protection.

Many warehousemen secure lower railroad transportation rates by collecting various customers' merchandise and storing the property until sufficient volume is attained to merit carload rates to a common destination. The insurance company should indicate its willingness to cover this added exposure.

G. Ocean Marine Insurance

Forwarders and/or warehousemen may have occasion to make shipments for customers, which must be insured under an ocean marine policy. It is usually found that an "open" policy is carried which cites coverages, conditions, etc. Each shipment is declared to the insurance company and insured "for the account of whom it may concern."

Practically all marine cargo policies contain the same conditions and coverages. These have been broadened in recent years by certain clauses which are peculiar to ocean marine contracts and somewhat difficult to read. The rates (independently promulgated by the various marine companies for shipments to various world parts, usually agree.

It should be emphasized that intercoastal shipments as well as those routed by way of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River must be covered under an ocean marine policy, coastal shipments are included in the protection afforded by the inland marine contract unless specifically excluded. • classification and not a mixed carloading rating which would be higher.

This is a system by which the manufacturer can ship a complete order of his entire line of products at one time and on one bill of lading on through rates from the producing plants. In this process he achieves a lower per unit distribution cost than heretofore and, equally important, gets it to the jobber, distributor, chain store, or retailer within two days of the time the order is received.

To set up such a program, a sound basis of traffic research coordinated with the production and sales pattern is essential. The problems of production, sales and distribution must be carefully evaluated and studied by both the manufacturer and the warehouse consultant.

General Foods Corp. was one of the first to set up a distribution center program in this country. It was accomplished under the direction of Arthur C. Schier, vice president in charge of traffic, who set up a traffic research section for this purpose in 1945.

Since that time most of the original transiting problems have been solved and today the railroads and major truck lines are eager to set up any reasonable transiting service for distribution center operations. Numerous large corporations have joined General Foods as users of this program — Pillsbury Mills, Inc.; Quaker Oats Co.; Carnation Co.; Armour and Co.; Swift and Co.; U. S. Rubber Co.; General Electric; Magnavox; and several large chemical and drug manufacturers.

Each corporation has its own plan designed to meet its particular requirements.

Ringsby Truck Lines, Inc., has moved to a new terminal in Kansas City, Mo. The building, located at 4401 Gardner Ave., is of steel and masonry construction with metal panel and glass facing. Three Major Types

There are three major types of distribution center operations in public warehouses. Under these three types there are differences in both size and operating technique.

The most complicated operation is found in the food distribution center warehouse where the manufacturer may carry from 100 to 300 products. Furthermore, these products are manufactured in from five to 50 different plants.

This producer's problem is to ship carloads of each product from the various plants to strategic warehouses under transit privileges. Many of the commodities will travel on different freight rates from varying distances. They must be transited on separate bills and freight classifications and then reshipped in mixed cars outbound to final destination. This requires a complicated system of maintaining transit records by commodities by point of origin and tonnages. On the outbound movement, each separate commodity and classification must be registered with the local weighing and inspection bureau. Tonnages are charged against the inbound transit records according to product and classification.

Second Type

The second type of distribution center operation is not quite as complicated. It consists of shipping from one major plant to strategic warehouses. The manufacturer, in this instance, produces his complete line of products in each of his factories. Even though he produces 50-100 items, they originate at one point and transiting is greatly simplified. Here again, products may travel under different freight rates and transiting must be maintained by both product and freight classification.

The third and most simple type of center operation involves one product or freight-rated commodity produced at one or more plants. In this operation, transit records and rates are more simple. Stocking and shipping are made easier.

Several sample rates will show the savings resulting from the use of transit warehouse service. For example, a plant in Cedar Rapids shipped carload lots of grain products including cereals to a distribution center warehouse in Pennsylvania. The rate was 52½ cents per cwt. To ship the cereals from the transit warehouse to New York in a carload consisting of several products for one customer, the shipper paid 3 cents cwt. On the latter movement, he saved 31 cents cwt since the additional carload rate if shipped direct without transit would have been 34 cents. The rate would be about tripled if the shipment was made LCL.

A Des Moines, Iowa, shipper of food products such as macaroni shipped to the Pennsylvania warehouse carload lots at 65 cents cwt. For shipping to his New York customer under a transit agreement, he paid 14 cents cwt, or 20 cents less than he would have paid for shipping without transit service.

A dog food processor in Louisiana sent its product through the same transit warehouse on its way to a New York customer. His rates were 58 cents cwt to the warehouse and 16 cents to New York. He saved 18 cents, the rate without transit being 34 cents.

In handling any of the various distribution center operations above, a public warehouse must have skilled and trained personnel to assure success in this type of specialized operation. This includes a skilled traffic department, trained materials handling engineers and office personnel capable of handling the most modern order and data processing equipment. In an article to appear in next month's issue of DISTRIBUTION AGE, the operational details of a modern distribution center warehouse and the requirements necessary for a successful operation will be explained.•

and still manage your business?

You can . . . you do! But at what a cost in normal operation . . . at what a cost in your own executives' and engineers' time, diverted from pressing tasks.

A new Butler plant would save much of that precious time, without sacrificing construction quality. Butler buildings are pre-engineered. Components are precision, mass-fabricated in an astonishing range of sizes. And your Butler Builder can provide engineering help to work out details.

Actual construction is an assembly job, completed weeks to months sooner than traditional construction. to storage areas in the center of the building. The fork lifts obtain their pallet loads from dollies on the 20-ft wide loading dock, to which they are pushed from inside highway trucks. Pallets are standardized in a 36 x 48-in. size. Then, carrying two to three pallet loads, the fork operator, without dismounting, presses the button of an air-operated super freezer door leading to the storage area designated on his bill of lading.

Unloading System

Recently, the company set up an unloading system to cut down expensive waiting time in peak periods when drivers often had to wait for the fork lifts. This system makes use of a dolly made two-directional by welding two roller conveyor sections to a single dolly at right angles. The dolly and pallet load is pushed from inside the truck and onto a roller conveyor section on the dock. This fixed conveyor section, which holds three pallet loads, serves as a temporary storage area which forks can serve when available.

Handling Parcels

Mechanization also was achieved in handling parcels for small order routes made up in the freezer storage areas. One such system makes use of a 220-ft power belt conveyor to which six tributary roller conveyors lead from aisles between storage racks. The packages are numbered for routing, carried on the belt to a chute, and emerge onto a roller conveyor on the dock to a waiting highway truck.

Items moving in large volume are in racks along the power conveyor; the smaller orders are selected from the tributary sections. This enables the distributor to accommodate 900 different items along his selections lines, and to load out an average of 800 cases per hour. Trucks are loaded in 45 minutes or less.•

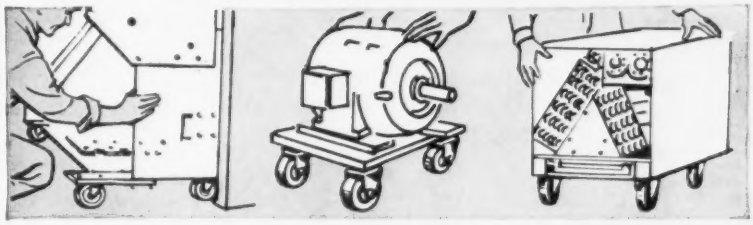
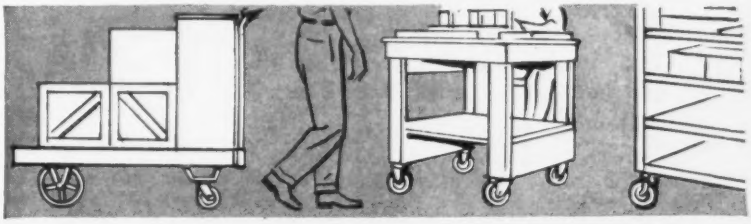
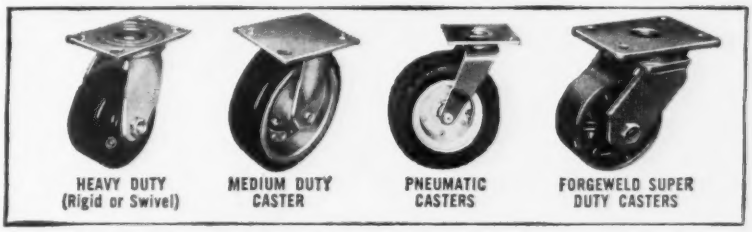
TO MOVE STOCK



TO MOVE MACHINERY



TO SPEED PRODUCTION



USE COLSON QUALITY INDUSTRIAL CASTERS

From 200 lbs. to 6000 lbs. capacity, there's a Colson Quality Industrial Caster to move stock, to move machinery and to speed up production. Advanced wheel designs spread the load to save floors . . . meet every need in the smallest factory to the largest giant plant.

Extensive experience and testing behind each Colson product have led industry to rely on Colson to move materials and machinery better and to get greater efficiency in positioning production set-ups. Advanced sealed bearing designs cut maintenance costs greatly . . .

There are hundreds of uses for Colson Casters in your plant . . . all of them fully described in the Colson Catalog. Send for one today!

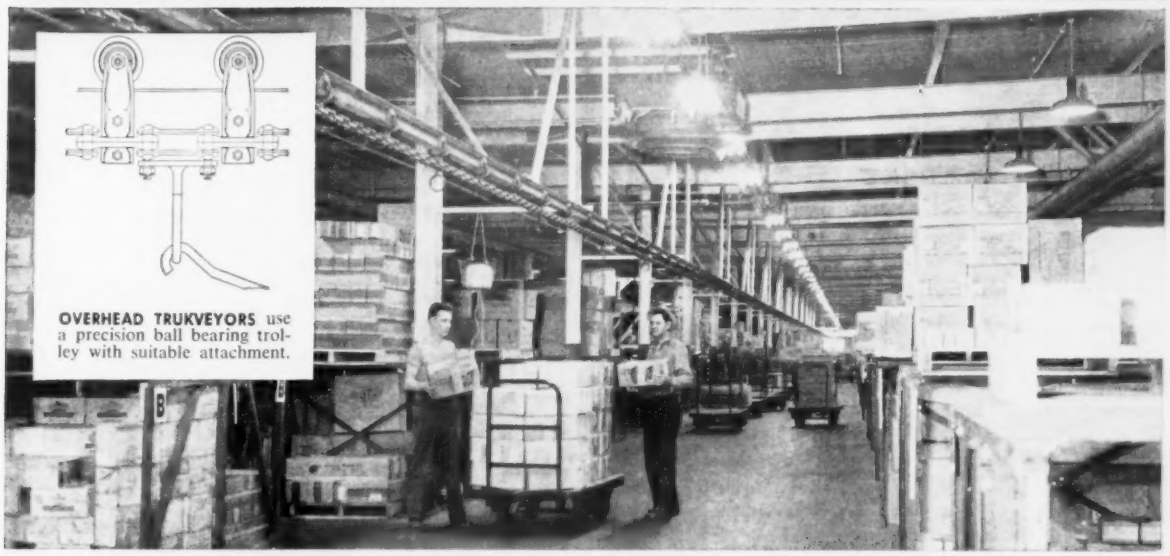
Combat rising freight handling costs

IN-THE-FLOOR TRUKVEYORS have all mechanical components recessed in the floor, yet are easily accessible for routine inspection and maintenance.



OVERHEAD TRUKVEYORS use a precision ball bearing trolley with suitable attachment.

LINK-BELT Trukveyors move loads faster . . . goods arrive in better condition

"YEARLY savings of $53,000" . . . "70% fewer order-assembly man-hours" . . . "99.95% claim-free service." These are typical of the results enjoyed by Trukveyor users from coast to coast. Both in-the-floor and overhead Trukveyor systems are engineered to check rising costs—both work to move merchandise faster and safer. Uniform flow of merchandise, reduction in damage and more efficient handling are just a few of the economic benefits derived from Link-Belt Trukveyors. Investigate other cost-cutting advantages by asking for Book 2497 at your nearest Link-Belt office.

RAPISTAN Ideas HANDLING

FLOW RACK™ INCREASES PROFITS FOR THESE WAREHOUSE OPERATORS

An efficient system for moving goods from receiving through storage to shipping is a necessity. But it is only part of a profitable warehouse operation. Today, your modern warehouse should include new Rapistan Flow Rack live storage conveyor, to increase order selection rates and to improve your use of available storage space. Flow Rack also gives you several other important benefits that will improve profit in any warehouse operation.

Flow Rack multiplies storage capacity by making effective use of "air rights". Using the skyscraper principle — that air space costs less than floor space—Flow Rack lets you deck merchandise neatly and efficiently to a practical height, yet keeps goods on conveyor wheels, ready to move.

Flow Rack increases speed of order selection by positioning a large variety of merchandise in a short linear distance. Your order pickers will make their selections faster, from a shorter line, by eliminating time wasted in walking and searching among scattered piles of merchandise.

Flow Rack reduces order selection errors. Each storage hatch in the rack can be clearly marked to identify the merchandise it holds. Each item is "order-positioned" for quick removal.

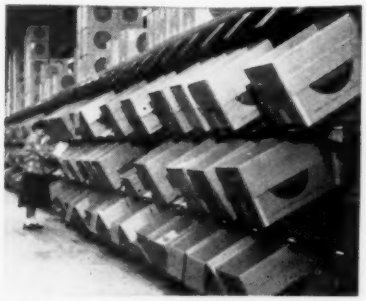
USING RAPISTAN FLOW RACK to warehouse women's handbags, a leading west-coast manufacturer has saved 20 man-hours a day in order selection. A single style and color is stored in each rack opening. A line of Rapistan gravity wheel conveyor speeds orders from the selection rack to the packing room.

Flow Rack provides "first-in-first-out" inventory control, since what goes into the rack first automatically comes out first. This can mean additional savings when handling seasonal or perishable goods.

Flow Rack reduces damage to goods. When cases are piled one atop another, the bottom cases quite often get crushed, or battered by floor trucks. When neatly placed in a Rapistan Flow Rack, merchandise is protected on all sides.

Rapistan Flow Rack, particularly when used in conjunction with gravity and power belt conveyors (and lift trucks as well), can bring new profit-building efficiency to your storage and order selection operations.

For detailed information and specific ideas on how Flow Rack can cut costs for you, call your local Rapistan representative, or write us direct. We will send you interesting literature showing use of Flow Rack in actual warehousing operations.



A LEADING NATIONAL greeting card manufacturer uses this Rapistan Flow Rack to warehouse a fast-changing inventory of many card styles. Since installing Flow Rack, the same volume of orders is handled in half as many man-hours. Walking time by order pickers has been reduced to one-sixth its previous level.

THIS LARGE MIDWESTERN meat packing and frozen food distributor modernized warehousing operations with four Rapistan Flow Racks like this. A gain of approximately 15% in worker efficiency has been achieved. Walking distance for an order picker is reduced to less than 10 ft.

at Hotpoint with the Majik-Loder®

Roper utilizes the ability of the "Majik-Loder" to handle ranges and ovens two at a time.

Protected by U.S. Patent No. 2799417 and other patents pending.

The MorLift "Majik-Loder" is the material handling machine the appliance industry has been waiting for!

As discovered at Hotpoint, this highly maneuverable (it can turn around in a box car) machine revolutionizes carloading operations at tremendous savings. Now one man can do the work of four, and at the same time damage is eliminated and loading time is substantially cut. With the new MorLift, large cartons such as refrigerators can be tilted and flat stacked atop upright bottom rows of cartons without manual effort. Another cost reducing feature is the ability of the machine to switch from tube and cap to glued cartons, or from large to small cartons without delay or mechanical changes.

For information write Dept. J, Elgin, Illinois. Territories available for direct Sales Representatives. Inquiries welcome.

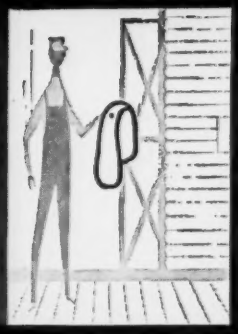
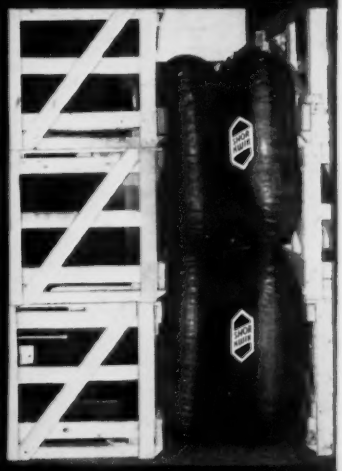
THIS KIND OF INFLATION CUTS COSTS, ENDS IN-TRANSIT PRODUCT DAMAGE!





Now, with U. S. Rubber's revolutionary new inflatable dunnage bags, you can eliminate the heavy losses from in-transit product damage. By simply placing U. S. SHOR-KWIK bags in position and filling them with air, you effectively hold your lading securely in place. The resiliency of these air-filled bags permits the lading to adjust to starts and stops—without damage. Replacing costly, time-consuming wooden braces and steel straps, U. S. SHOR-KWIK dunnage cuts shoring time by at least 50%. Extra-tough neoprene-coated bags allow years of use and reuse. So to save money, time and your cargo, send for this booklet about U. S. SHOR-KWIK. New Towmotor "Constant-Power" Lift Raises Productivity and Profits

It's easy to see how Towmotor fork lift trucks built a reputation for modern mass-handling efficiency.

As standard equipment you get engineering advances like the new Towmotor "no-power-loss" pump that guarantees instant response and constant lifting action. Towmotor operators get positive control in raising, lowering and positioning loads. Handling tons of materials is swift, safe and continuous!

With Towmotor fork lift trucks more work gets done with less fatigue. Motion-saving centralized control—cushioned-comfort seating—dual entry compartment—high free lift—are other standard features that give you convincing reasons for buying modern Towmotor-Gerlinger equipment.

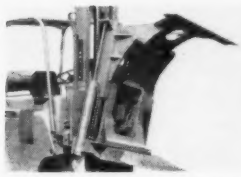
For latest information on the industry's most complete line, send coupon below.

Leaders for 39 years in building Fork Lift Trucks, Tractors and Carriers

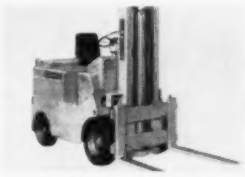
TOWMOTOR
THE ONE-MAN-GANG
-GERLINGER

Gerlinger Carrier Co. is a subsidiary of Towmotor Corporation, Cleveland 10, Ohio

Today's industries need Towmotor Continuous Operation



Towmotor Standard Accessories that grab, scoop, push-and-pull, ram, revolve and even shift sideways, offer versatility that saves manhours and dollars daily.



"Pace-Maker" Series Model 540 is typical of new fork lift trucks in the combined Towmotor-Gerlinger line. Load capacities from 1500 to 40,000 pounds.

Driving Ease More Than Tripled with new Towmotor power steering! TowmoTorque Drive adds cushioned "creep" control unequalled in the industry today.

ONE TRUCK...DOUBLE DUTY

SAVE SPACE! Mast up! Stacks high, makes full use of air rights. Helps you get full value from every foot of your warehouse space.

SAVE TIME! Mast down! Allows truck to enter low-headroom areas – eliminating time-consuming re-handling operations.

NEW YALE TRIPLEX MAST

FEATURES HIGH LIFT, LOW-HEADROOM CLEARANCE

for fast, continuous handling operations

216"-HIGH REACH—96"-LOW SILHOUETTE

Boost storage capacity of present warehouse! Tier loads high as 216"! With mast up, take full advantage of air rights. With mast down, move safely into freightcars or trailer trucks —into any low-headroom area. Result: smooth, continuous flow of materials in and out of your storage, production and shipping areas.

New Yale Triplex Masts offer outstanding features—new interlocking I-beam construction for greater load stability—new open-front design that gives the driver full forward visibility.

HAMILTON

EFFICIENT HANDLING AND STORAGE AT LOW COST

Hamilton Roll-N-Stor Lift Truck Systems are ideal for economical, efficient warehousing. They speed load transfer—facilitate storage of merchandise and materials. Roll-N-Stor Skid Trucks feature unique 3-rail construction, two side rails and one center—platform can't bend or sag. Side rails are flush with edge, deck boards inset for a smooth, flat top surface. Roll-N-Stor Skid Trucks are capacity rated to 2500 lbs.

Write today for the Hamilton Catalog illustrating and describing hundreds of floor trucks for every purpose: lift truck systems, platform trucks, box trucks, shelf and tray trucks, dollies, lumber buggies—and special trucks for many uses.

New All-Purpose Pneumatic industrial tires cut your operating costs 4 ways!

THE first thing the driver of a materials handling truck notices when you change to B.F.Goodrich All-Purpose Pneumatic industrial tires is the smooth, comfortable ride—the sure, dependable traction! But you'll notice reduced operating costs because B.F.Goodrich All-Purpose tires:

1. Lower machine maintenance by protecting equipment.
2. Cut plant maintenance by protecting floors.
3. Reduce breakage by cushioning loads.
4. Mean more work per salary-dollar by reducing driver fatigue.

Specify* B.F.Goodrich tires when ordering new equipment

The All-Purpose tread has hundreds of gripping edges that give positive traction in forward or reverse—on all hauling surfaces, indoors and outside. Husky shoulders and a continuous center rib wear slowly and evenly, give the All-Purpose greater stability under heavy loads.

FREE TIRE AND WHEEL TW Analysis cuts costs up to 50%

The new B.F.Goodrich All-Purpose Pneumatic is just one in the only complete line of money-saving industrial tires for every materials handling job. Picking the right tire for your work is the job of the B.F.Goodrich Tire and Wheel Analysis man. His unbiased recommendations can save you up to 50% on tire costs, up to 20% on maintenance costs. This B.F.Goodrich service is free—just mail the coupon. A consulting service is available to manufacturers of materials handling equipment.

ELPAR®

CARGO SCOUT...

The Speediest Dock Truck Made

On the dock and in the plant, this all-new, all-around performer cuts minutes from every handling trip. The Cargo Scout has the fastest travel speed (up to 6½ m.p.h.) and the fastest lift speed (up to 72 f.p.m.) of any model in its class. Exceptionally compact and maneuverable, the Cargo Scout scoots into and out of the most confined areas quickly, easily. Fast electric truck acceleration, 360-degree turning and ease of operator mounting and dismounting are a few more of its time-saving features.

In 2,000- to 4,000-pound capacities, the Cargo Scout incorporates basic ELPAR electric truck dependability . . . your assurance of twice as many years of service as comparable gas models—with only one-third the operating and maintenance costs.

GET ALL THE FACTS

about the Cargo Scout, and the money-saving advantages of ELPAR electric trucks. Send for Cargo Scout Bulletins and the ELPAR Lift, "Gas vs. Electric Trucks."

AMA Packaging Seminar Scheduled for March 3

"The Traffic Manager's Place in Packaging" is the subject of a Packaging Workshop Seminar to be held March 3-5 by the American Management Association, Inc. Sessions will be held in the Sheraton-Astor Hotel, New York.

John E. Merz, Jr., manager transportation service, Corning Glass Works, and Harold F. Vaughan, assistant traffic manager, Microswitch Division, Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., are the workshop chairmen.

The session has been planned in view of the trend to make industrial packaging a traffic responsibility.

Canadian Rail Rate Rise

A freight rate increase of 3.6 per cent has been authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada.

Officials estimated that the increase would mean an additional $8,700,000 per year for the Canadian National Railways and $6,300,000 per year more for the Canadian Pacific. The railroads had asked a 10 per cent increase.

A new closing date for recommendations for the 1958 Annual Awards of the Packaging Institute has been announced. Recommendations for both the Corporate Award and the Professional Award must be received no later than April 1. The presentations are to be made at the 20th Annual Forum, scheduled for October 13-15 in Chicago's Edgewater Beach Hotel.

CAB Official Addresses Air Forwarders Association

Louis J. Hector, Civil Aeronautics Board member, was the guest speaker recently at the First Annual Dinner of the Air Freight Forwarders Association. The dinner was held in New York.

The speaker pointed out the job of the air forwarder in providing an air traffic department for industries but stressed the forwarder's job of selling air freight. "An air freight forwarder—at least a successful air freight forwarder—does not wait until the shipper decides on his own in an emergency that he would like to send something by air. The forwarder's job is to show him that he should use air freight in his daily business . . ."

ICC Annual Report Adds Four Recommendations for Congress

The ICC, in its 71st Annual Report to Congress, has added four new recommendations to those made a year ago.

The report covers the period from July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957. Following the policy established last year, the ICC will submit draft bills covering the recommendations to the appropriate Congressional committees.

The new recommendations include the amending of Section 5 of the Interstate Commerce Act to make gross operating revenue rather than number of vehicles owned the basis for determining whether a proposed unification is exempt from the Section.

One proposal deals with the Safety Appliance Act. It would amend the Act so that the Commission could exempt four-wheel track motorcars and push trucks from this legislation. The Commission would be authorized to set other safety standards for these vehicles.

Two changes are asked for the Elkins Act. One would amend Paragraph 1 of Section 1. The amendment would make it clear that when a concession or discrimination is an inducement to obtain the interstate traffic of a shipper, every shipment subsequently transported in interstate or foreign commerce for such shipper shall be deemed to have been transported at less than the tariff rate. Furthermore, every shipment so transported shall be deemed a separate offense.

The second Elkins Act change would deal with Section 1, Paragraph 3. This would be amended to make triple-damage provisions applicable to the carrier as well as to the shipper and receiver.

Stephen A. Aplin has been named director of the Bureau of Rates and Practices of the ICC. He succeeds Frank E. Mullen, who retired Jan. 31. Aplin joined the ICC staff 31 years ago in the Bureau of Formal Cases. He returned to that Bureau as assistant chief examiner in 1956.

Overhead Crane Institute Elects Blum President

Frank M. Blum, of the Harnischfeger Corp., has been elected president of the Electric Overhead Crane Institute. The Institute met in Washington recently. Arland R. Walkley, of Manning, Maxwell & Moore, Inc., was named vice president, and Joe H. Peritz was re-elected executive secretary and treasurer.

Directors elected were: William H. Morgan, Morgan Engineering Co.; William W. Peattie, Northern Engineering Works, and John S. Jackson, Shepard Niles Crane & Hoist Corp.

AMHS Announces Contest

The Sixth Annual Clark Awards for papers on materials handling were announced recently by the American Materials Handling Society, Inc. The contest, on the subject "Materials Handling—Management's New Frontier," will result in the awarding of five prizes. First prize will receive $1250, half of the total prize money. The contest is open to the general public. Papers will be postmarked no later than March 28. Copies of the rules are available from the American Material Handling Society, Inc., 2727 Upton Ave., Toledo 13, Ohio.

New Center for Railroad Freight

The Chicago freight yard operations of the Wabash Railroad, the company freight house, and its piggy-back facilities all have been centered at a single location. Cost of this improvement was $4-million. The view from the yardmaster's tower at Landers Yard (above) shows the new freight house in the background. Additional tracks gives 33 per cent more capacity and rearranging of the tracks increases speed

Standard Size Containers Backed at ASA Conference

Standard size shipping containers should be developed for the efficient handling and shipping of goods and the proper use of space on all common carriers.

This was the unanimous agreement of a conference of packaging, materials handling, and transportation representatives who met recently. The conference was held at the New York offices of the American Standards Association.

The 40-man conference voted that American Standards Association set up a project to determine such sizes. The project will be carried out by a committee of experts.

Included in the review will be the dimensions of transportation equipment of common carriers. Using this information, container sizes are to be selected to make possible maximum space utilization whether the container is carried by truck, train, plane, or ship.

Telescoping Conveyor

Loading and unloading vans and trucks is made easier through use of a new cantilever telescoping conveyor, a product of the Wilkie Co. They are available in two or three telescoping sections. One section rests on the floor of the dock or truckbed. The two-section model will extend up to 18 ft while the three-section model will reach 30 ft. The absence of legs beneath the extended sections makes the conveyor easy to maneuver inside the body of the truck. Capacity is as high as 100 lb per foot. They are available in 12, 18, and 24 in. widths. They are available as roller, wheel, live roller, and power belt systems.

Hydraulic Pallet Truck

The Raymond Corp. has added a new hydraulic hand pallet truck to its line of narrow aisle equipment. The 3000-lb capacity unit is offered with floor-saving rubber tired front wheels and aluminum rear wheels. The carrying frame sizes range from 18-30 in. wide and from 30-60 in. long. This lightweight truck has a 270 deg steering arc for good maneuverability in close quarters.

Circle 158 on Card, Page 51

Elevating Loader

The Lodige Mfg. Corp. has introduced a new elevating loader that serves as a mobile, adjustable loading dock and work platform. It is of particular value where permanent docks are not available. It also has been used in elevating loads for top tier storage or moving materials between floors in the absence of elevators. Fully equipped with safety devices and push button controls, the elevating loader comes in four capacities ranging from 1½ to 6 tons. It elevates 10 ft.

Packaging Material

To block, space, and cushion fragile products in shipment, the Vanant Co., Inc., is producing a pre-formed fiber board wrap around packaging material, Sus-Rap. Each application is engineered to the customer's requirements. The product gives a simple, positive solution to damage in transit. In addition, it lowers costs, cuts, weight, and decreases labor costs.

Hand Lift Jack System

A hand lift jack for use with semi-live skids is offered by the Hamilton Caster & Mfg. Co. The system consists of a lift jack with a pintle that instantly engages a special bracket under the front of the skid. A forward pull of the jack handle raises the legs of the skid and the load is ready to roll. Empty skids can be stored on end.

Circle 161 on Card, Page 51

Straddle-Type Stacker

Two models of a straddle-type stacker have been added to the battery-powered hand truck line produced by the Clark Equipment Co. Model 20 has a 2000 lb capacity while Model 40 lifts up to 4000 lb. Depending on which of seven sizes of uprights are specified, the truck can lift and tier palletized goods to a height of 94 to 130 in. Its articulated drive unit, mounted on a roller assembly, will traverse up and down as much as 3 in. to compensate for uneven floors.

Circle 162 on Card, Page 51

Load-Rated Hooks

A new line of load rated hooks in sizes from ¾ ton through 150 ton capacities now is available from American Hoist & Derrick Co. Each hook, providing top capacity per size, is unconditionally guaranteed against breakage. Rated capacities are stamped permanently on the hook to permit easier selection and prevent the danger of overloads. To give the variations in capacity, three materials are used.

Circle 163 on Card, Page 51

Parts Transport Cart

Filling parts orders is speeded by this truck manufactured by McClintock Mfg. Co. As each tote pan is filled, it is slid into a pair of runners where it is suspended by its rims. Tote pans may be removed easily and transferred to assembly line racks or service trucks. Four heavy-duty ball-bearing swivel casters make the cart easy to push.

Within the LAW

By Leo T. Parker Legal Consultant, Distribution Age

WAREHOUSING

What is the law governing a warehouseman's lien in collecting overdue charges?

Two legal questions often asked by warehousemen are:

"Does a warehouseman have a general or specific lien on stored merchandise to secure payment of overdue charges?" In such a case does the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act provide the same law for negotiable and non-negotiable warehouse receipts?

Recently I located a leading higher court decision which seems to answer these important legal questions.

For example, in H— V— Corp. v. P— Fisheries, 189 Fed. Rep. 481, the testimony showed facts as follows: H— V— Corp. is a Massachusetts corporation which conducts a public warehouse and fish freezing plant. P— Fisheries had from time to time during the past two and one-half years delivered to the warehouse company various lots of fish for freezing and storage. For each lot as delivered, the warehouse company issued a non-negotiable warehouse receipt.

P— Fisheries went bankrupt. At the time there remained on deposit in the warehouse 11 lots of fish. P— Fisheries owed the warehouseman the sum of $258.11 on unpaid charges for processing and storage of the fish. It also owed the warehouse company the additional sum of $1,126.84 for processing and storage of other lots of fish, which had been removed from the warehouse.

The warehouse company claimed a general lien on the 11 lots to secure payment of the total amount due, which was $1,384.95. The Fisheries' trustee in bankruptcy maintained that the lien was a specific one, limited to $258.11—the unpaid charges on the remaining 11 lots of fish.

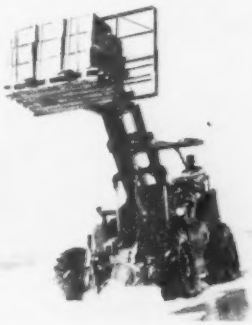
The higher court held that the warehouse company had a general lien on the merchandise presently in storage to secure payment of the total $1,384.95. The court said:

"A warehouseman loses his lien by surrendering possession, or by refusing to deliver the goods when a demand is made with which he is bound to comply under this chapter."

At common law, before enactment of the Uniform Act, a warehouseman had a specific lien for storage charges, enforceable only against the goods to which the charges related. This was in contrast with the common law treatment of wharfingers, who had a general lien, enforceable against any of the owner's goods remaining on deposit, as security for unpaid storage charges accumulated on general account.

In a few states, prior to the drafting of the Uniform Warehouse Receipts Act, the warehouseman's lien had by state laws been extended to cover "all legal demand for storage." These statutes were construed by the courts as giving to warehousemen a general lien like that of the wharfinger. See Kaufman v. Leonard, 139 Mich. 104, 102 N.W. 632.

Amphibious Fork Truck



The U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps has unveiled a new fork-lift truck that "swims," climbs sand dunes, pulls itself out of holes, drives sideways, reaches for its load, and holds the load on an even keel over any terrain. Designed to Army specifications by the Industrial Truck Div. of Clark Equipment Co., it will operate in five feet of water. The body and forks can be tilted left or right, independent of axles, to keep the load level

Does Uniform Receipts Act provide same law for negotiable and non-negotiable receipts?

The law is different with respect to negotiable warehouse receipts. Where a negotiable receipt is issued for goods, the warehouseman has no lien except for charges for storage and preservation of those goods subsequent to the date of the receipt, unless the receipt expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed.

The reason for this fundamental distinction between negotiable and non-negotiable receipts is obvious. When the warehouseman issues a negotiable receipt, he must anticipate that the receipt may pass into the hands of a bona fide purchaser for value. Also, the use of the negotiable receipt as an instrument of commercial credit would be greatly impaired if the subsequent assignee of the receipt had to take it subject to a secret lien of the warehouseman for storage charges, advances, etc., on goods other than those covered by the receipt.

This court went on to explain that where only non-negotiable receipts are involved, it is entirely reasonable that the warehouseman should be able to allow a customer to withdraw part of his goods from the warehouse without paying the charges thereon, so long as the warehouseman retains other goods of the customer which are sufficient in value to serve as security for the debt on the general account.

On the other hand, the higher courts hold that a contract or agreement between a warehouseman and the owner of stored goods is valid and enforceable by the terms of a specific lien which the warehouseman has agreed to with respect to non-negotiable warehouse receipts. The court said:

(Please Turn Page)

Within the Law . . .

"Notwithstanding that the warehouseman's statutory lien is a general one, it would not be against public policy for the warehouseman, in the storage agreement, to restrict himself to a specific lien."

Must owner of goods destroyed by fire prove warehouseman's negligence to collect?

Discussion has arisen over the legal question: Is it necessary for the owner of goods destroyed by fire in a warehouse to prove that the fire was caused by negligence of the warehouseman before he can recover the value of the destroyed goods from the warehouseman?

According to a late higher court decision the jury may presume that the fire was caused by negligence of the warehouseman or his employee.

For example, in R— v. M— Storage Co., 110 Atl. (2d) 237, the testimony showed facts as follows: A man named R— deposited merchandise for storage in a warehouse owned and operated by the M— Storage Co. The warehouse was a rectangular one-story building approximately 250 ft long and 55 ft wide. The rear of the building, measuring 55 x 30 ft, was separated from the rest of the building by a non-fire-resistant wall and was used as an auto repair shop by the M— Storage Co.

One morning the warehouse company's employes were working in this repair shop on the gasoline tank of a truck. The chief mechanic decided to drain the tank by drilling through the corroded plug. Sparks from the electric drill came into contact with the gasoline. Flames leaped to the roof above the repair shop. They spread to the warehouse proper, and the building and stored goods were destroyed.

The jury presumed that the fire was caused by negligence of the warehouse company's employee and held the warehouse company fully liable for the value of the destroyed merchandise. The higher court approved the jury's verdict and said:

"Could a jury say that it was negligence for a worker to enter into a reservoir of gasoline with a whirling electric drill, known to produce flashes of live fire? It would be trying credulity to an intolerable degree to assume that a jury could not find negligence in so imprudent an act.

Is a night watchman subject to provisions of the minimum wage under Fair Labor Act?

Considerable discussion has arisen over the question: Is an employee whose sole duty is to watch a warehouse at night within the scope of the Fair Labor Standards Act? According to a late higher court decision, the answer is yes.

For example, in M— v. C— Co., 239 Fed. Rep. (2d) 377, the testimony showed these facts: The C— Co. is a corporation located in Nashville, Tennessee. It is engaged in the purchase, handling, warehousing, wholesale, sale and distribution of merchandise.

An employee, named M—, was hired to watch the warehouse at night. He was the only employee on the premises at nighttime. The higher court held that he was within the scope of the Fair Labor Standards Act, and that he must be paid the minimum wages specified by this Federal law.

TRANSPORTATION

If an accident occurs on an apron between street and a parking lot, who is liable?

Sometime ago I received a letter from a reader as follows: "Our driver seriously injured a pedestrian when driving from the street into our lot. At this time this pedestrian was walking on the apron which extends from the street to the sidewalk. Can he sue us and get damages?"

According to a late higher court decision the answer is no.

For instance, in B—— v. B——, 72 N. W. (2d) 702, it was shown that a property owner constructed a concrete apron from the street and leading into his parking lot. One day a pedestrian was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile, while walking upon the apron of the sidewalk.

The higher court held that the pedestrian could not recover damages for his injuries because the testimony showed that he failed to yield the right-of-way, while walking on the apron, to the motor vehicle.

Storage Tank on the Move

Tank or truck? Both. A 30,000-gal storage tank for high-pressure gas moves from Milton, Pa. to Saranac Lake, N. Y., in a special rig using the tank as its own truck bed. Only cables connect the rear dolly and forward cradle. The rig, developed to move tanks made by the Advanced Products Div., ACF Industries, moves only on prescribed routes in daylight hours, and in good weather

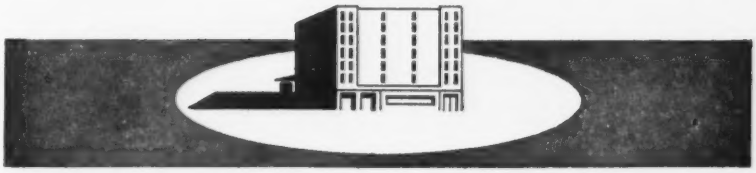
Five gallons of fuel, water, or liquid food can be dropped from an airplane in a new free-fall container designed by L. V. Cooper (left), of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. Cooper developed the container after his son, Tom (right), nearly died on Corregidor during World War II because of a water shortage

Warehouse SPOTLIGHT



AWA Officials Planning 67th Annual Meeting for Dallas

The American Warehousemen's Association and its two divisions —the National Association of Refrigerated Warehouses, Inc., and the Merchandise Division — will meet in Dallas, Texas, March 10-13.

Among the many features will be a new program format. The Opening General Luncheon on Monday will be followed immediately by the Opening Session. Speaker at the first luncheon will be Elmer Wheeler, who will describe his "dangerous selling technique." Joseph F. Leopold will address the Opening General Session on the subject of "Government and Warehousing."

This first luncheon replaces the separate division functions, which formerly honored members attending their first AWA convention.

Advance registrations are made through AWA Headquarters, Tower Building, Washington 5, D. C. The meetings will be held at the Hotel Adolphus.

—DA—

Recently elected officers of the Illinois Association of Merchandise Warehousemen are: V. G. McCarty, Anchor Storage Co., president; and W. E. Seeley, Midland Warehouses, Inc., vice president.

Refrigeration Group to Meet

The Refrigeration Research Foundation has called its Annual Meeting for March 6-8 at the Hotel Adolphus, Dallas, Tex.

Council meetings, open to all warehousemen, are listed for March 6 and 7 with a membership meeting starting at 10 a.m. on March 8.

Speakers participating include Dr. Robert Smock, Cornell University; Dr. John M. Harvey, USDA, Fresno, Calif.; Dr. Guy W. Adriance, Texas A&M; Ralph Westcott, Holladay & Westcott, Los Angeles; Dr. G. Leonard Rygg, USDA, Pomona, Calif.; and Dr. William Stadelman, Purdue University.

NFWA Convention to Be Held March 16-21 at Palm Beach

Two "information pools," informal sessions when two topics of vital interest to the industry will be discussed, are innovations on this year's program of the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association.

The first will be on Monday, March 17, from 2 to 4. The subject is "Palletization and Building Construction." On Wednesday afternoon, during the same hours, the subject will be "Compensation of Sales Personnel."

All formal sessions during the March 16-21 Convention at Palm Beach, Fla., will be held in the morning.

New Warehouse in Toledo

To celebrate its 50th anniversary, Edgar's Warehouse, Inc., has broken ground in Toledo, Ohio, for a new warehouse to contain 225,080 sq ft of space. The building will be completed this spring. It will be used for general merchandise warehousing, and will bring the company's total number of warehouses to 15. Of one-story construction, the new warehouse will be located on a 7.73-acre site adjacent to the New York Central rail yards. The building, 840 x 280 ft in size, will be all under one roof. Height will be 25 feet

Allied Reports on Year

Allied Van Lines, Inc., reported a record year in 1957. President Richard LaBelle says the company's 700 movers in 520 cities grossed more than $55 million, an increase of 15 per cent over last year. Allied's 3500 vans serviced 135,000 families who moved interstate. The tonnage hauled exceeded 522,000,000 lb.

Men in the Spotlight

Arthur C. Smith, Sr.—honored recently on his 75th birthday and the 50th anniversary of the founding of Smith's Transfer & Storage Co., Washington, D. C. The occasion was marked at an Advertising Club luncheon.

William J. Donovan and Edward J. Colgan—named director of sales and special sales representative, respectively, of T. G. Buckley Moving and Storage Co.

Samuel J. Scott—newly appointed commissioner of the Transportation and Public Utilities Service of the General Services Administration.

Fred Dickinson—named manager of the new Highland Park, Ill., office of National Van Lines, Inc.

Earl E. Cozby—promoted to branch manager of the Mayflower Warehouses new branch at Arlington, Texas.

W. D. Leet, May Alden Leet, and Leonore Leet—have retired as chairman of the board, editor of Distributors' News, and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of Allied Distribution Inc.

Research Group Completes Palletization Project

"Preliminary Survey of Palletization Practices," the first report of the National Moving and Storage Technical Foundation, has just been published.

A study of the various systems of palletization used in household goods warehouses, the project was conducted by personnel of the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association. The book is a central source of information on the experiences of many warehousemen using pallet systems. It will serve equally well a warehouseman planning expansion of his current palletized operation or one contemplating starting such a system.

It consists of about 50 pages of text and 54 illustrations.

Copies of the report may be obtained from the National Moving and Storage Technical Foundation, 327 S. LaSalle St., Chicago 4.

Moving & Storage Field Project Completed

The National Moving & Storage Technical Foundation, the funding vehicle for a three-fold program of field study, scientific research, and formal education in the moving and storage industry, has announced completion of its first project. This project, a study of the various systems of palletization used in household goods warehouses, was undertaken by personnel of the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association. The resulting manual, "A Preliminary Survey of Palletization Practices," is a comprehensive account of the industry's gradual conversion to palletization. Shown above are William J. MWA Reveals Meeting Plans

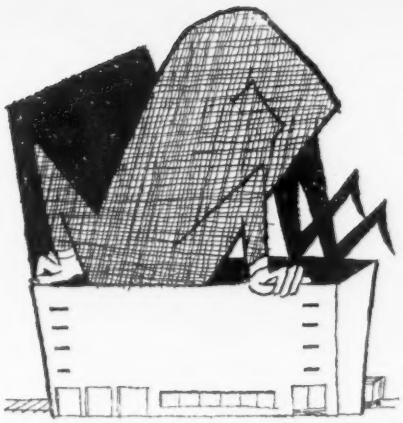
Registration forms now are available for the 23rd Annual Convention of the Movers' and Warehousemen's Association of America, Inc. Sessions will be held March 12-15 at the Americana Hotel, Bal Harbour, Miami Beach, Fla.

Speakers will include Robert W. Minor, ICC commissioner; William J. Burns, general manager, Movers Conference of America; Col. Page H. Slaughter, chief, Freight Division, Military Traffic Management Agency; Ed D. Byrnes and Donald Markham, NFWA; O. J. Garrison, Jr., chairman M&WAA Reciprocity Committee, and Herbert Burstein, M&WAA general counsel.

Social functions will include the annual golf tournament, the annual banquet, and Gala Hawaiian Night.



It Looks Good . . . But What's Inside?

WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

Exterior construction is only one consideration in selecting a public warehouse. Here is an inside view into U. S. and Canadian facilities and services

Selection of a warehouse, especially if it is to be a key distribution point, requires the same careful consideration as the selection of industrial sites, branch offices, and sales representatives.

Many factors influence choice. First there is the area in which the warehouse is located. Then differences such as transportation facilities, switching, sidings, dock areas, pool car service, handling equipment, temperature and humidity control, showrooms, and local cartage influence the choice. Some warehouses have many of these facilities, others have all.

To aid readers with selection, DISTRIBUTION AGE editors have, in the following pages, attempted to list the important specific services of public warehouses in the United States and Canada. Every listing has been checked and brought up to date as of press time.

Naturally, this compilation would be impossible without the cooperation of the warehousemen. It would be encouraging and rewarding to them if, when writing, mention be made that their listings were seen in DISTRIBUTION AGE.

Space limitations have made it necessary to keep the data brief but, if further information is needed, many additional facts can be obtained quickly from editorial files. Just contact the Editor, at Chestnut & 56th Sts., Philadelphia 39, Pa.

LIGHTNING

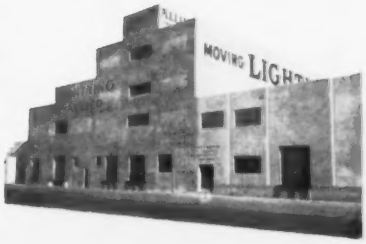
in Phoenix, Arizona

IDEAL LOCATION

Phoenix is the ideal distribution center for the rapidly expanding Southwestern market. Two transcontinental railroads and 35 interstate trucking firms provide "overnight" service to all sections of the Southwest. Lightning's modern fleet provides local cartage service.

COMPLETE SERVICE

Lightning offers a complete service including: palletized storage, car loading and unloading, pool car distribution, local delivery, reshipping and field warehousing.



MODERN FACILITIES

Over 100,000 square feet is available in concrete and brick warehouses. Centrally located, private sidings, adequate truck loading docks. NEW MODERN STORAGE & DISTRIBUTION FACILITY, now under construction, will provide an additional 100,000 square feet of storage area.

SIGNAL

POOL CAR DISTRIBUTION

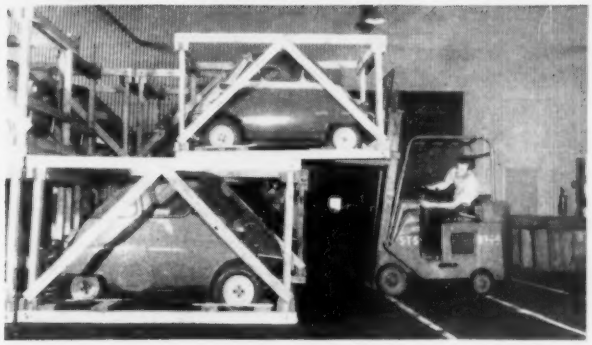
Direct rail sidings to all three of Signal's main locations, serving industrial Los Angeles and the Harbor areas, enable shippers to spot cars at the Signal facility nearest final destination. Modern materials handling techniques transfer merchandise directly from rail car to units of Signal's own delivery fleet—eliminating unnecessary handling and assuring on-time...intact delivery on all pool car shipments.

FOR

HARBOR SERVICE

Serving both the Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors ... Signal Trucking Service maintains the largest fleet of equipment ... offers the most flexible operation of its kind in Southern California ... to better serve the most exacting demands of importers—exporters—transcontinental and local shippers.

SERVICE



WAREHOUSING

For every phase of warehousing and distribution ... from such specialized services as the uncrating and servicing of imported automobiles to providing motor carrier—steamship—or rail transportation for warehoused commodities ... Signal serves shippers better.

Providing 400,000 square feet of class "A" A. D. T. protected space—operating two public and six contract warehouses—hiring only the most skilled professional warehousemen available—and serving Los Angeles, Wilmington, and Long Beach ... it's Signal for complete warehousing service.

Other Facilities Include: Complete Truck Leasing—Contract Drayage—Local Cartage and Common Carrier Service.

SAN FRANCISCO

VITAL CENTER OF PACIFIC COAST DISTRIBUTION

South End's California warehouse, or main building, at 625 Second Street, contains the general offices. Their Terminal warehouse (not shown here) is located at 660 Third St. All South End's properties are near all railroad depots and steamship docks.

King and Company, drayage division, operates a great fleet of trucks, to meet the requirements of South End's merchandise handling problems. Models range from light delivery trucks to ten-ton jobs.

American Warehouse, 699 Second Street, which contains offices for manufacturers' representatives, also provides an inside spur track, loading platform, driveway and garage. Yard space and paved parking lot is situated between these two buildings.

EIGHT buildings in all to offer you the finest distribution system in the nation

General's efficient system plays an important role in the preparation and timing of distribution necessary to replenish normal consumption or at the exact time required by advertising and sales demands . . . it enables you to have perfect control and supervision over National and Local distribution. General is ideal for the out-of-town manufacturer who needs an integrated system that works like an extension of his own company. General's three vital geographic locations, Chicago, Rockford and Peoria, plus their own Transportation Division gives you perfect "3-Point" distribution in Illinois . . . you can serve a vast market of over 7,000,000 consumers with true economy. Examine our warehouses and our system . . . then compare others. You will understand why the nations leading manufacturers select "GENERAL". Remember . . . warehousing by General is an economy . . . not a cost.

As a new and important service, General is now a member of the National Warehouse Receipts System and offers you Field Warehousing with National coverage and Local supervision.

To give YOU full advantage of Chicago's new developments in STORAGE and DISTRIBUTION

- Now, your world-wide shipping direct to or from Chicago via the St. Lawrence Seaway
- Your Gulf-to-Great Lakes shipping via new inland waterways
- Your local and nation-wide shipping over the greatest rail and highway network in the world

If you distribute world-wide, nation-wide, north central, or in the Chicago area only . . . There are new ways to distribute your goods faster—at lower cost.

Great advances have been made in Chicago's waterways, rail lines and highways; warehousing systems, and facilities.

Find out from North Pier Terminal how you can gain full advantage of all these latest developments.

Find out how you can ship to or from Chicago direct to world ports via the St. Lawrence Seaway. How you can use Chicago's World Port at Lake Calumet and the new Commercial Harbor District downtown. How you can benefit fully from Chicago's finest locations, modern buildings and facilities.

Ask North Pier Terminal to make a survey of your distribution program. Ask us to give you a tailor-made plan showing you how to use Chicago's strategic storage and distribution points most efficiently.

North Pier Terminal, oldest warehousing-distribution firm on the Great Lakes, offers you FIVE prime locations.

You can get a complete distribution service at each. We relieve you of all details such as routing, scheduling, tracing and inventorying. Just tell us what, when, and where to ship—and we will save you time, money and headaches.

North Pier Terminal will show you for the asking—and at no cost, how to get full benefit from the greatest progress any city in the world has made in recent years. Call or write W. W. Huggett, President, or S. T. Heffner, Vice President.

Distribution Costs, Not Storage Costs, Determine Your Profits

Yes, storage cost is only part of the over-all distribution cost. And distribution costs consist of unloading and re-loading time, handling, damage, insurance, demurrage, spoilage and — most important — proximity to markets and interline transportation. Time is money, and so is labor. Each time there is a delay or extra handling you have to pay for it — out of precious profit dollars.

All of these time and labor factors — many of them hidden factors — go into the making of your distribution cost, have far-reaching effect on your profits.

Wakem & McLaughlin's HI-FI (HIgh efFIciency) warehousing methods provide complete control over all distribution cost factors — result in substantial distribution savings for you. The HI-FI system of warehousing employs the time and labor saving techniques of automation in incomparably modern plant facilities.

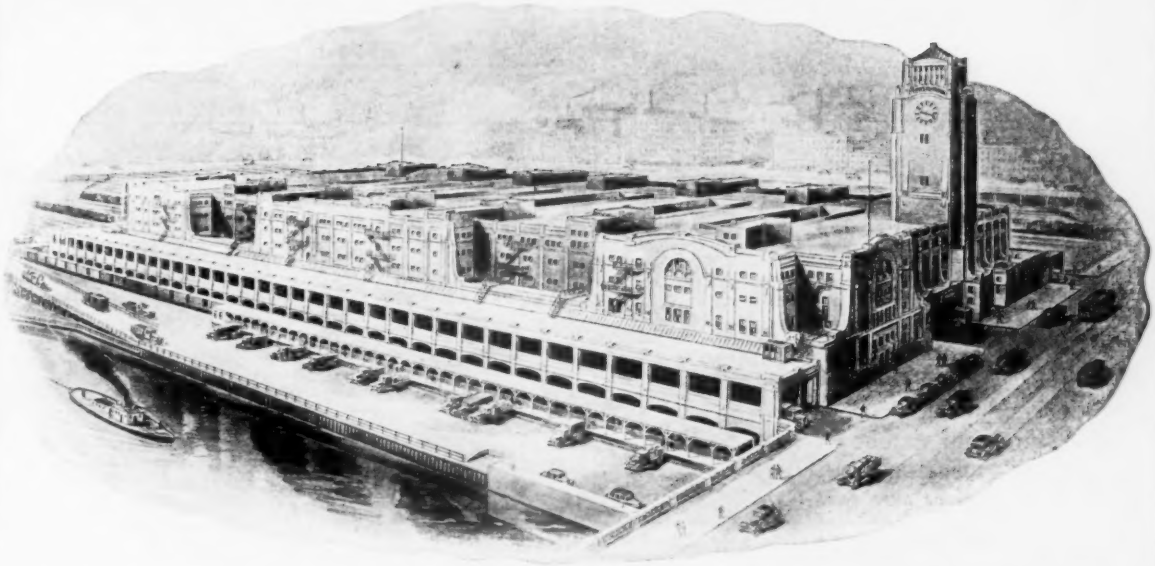
WESTERN

At the Edge of the Loop



Puts You in the CENTER of DISTRIBUTION

WESTERN'S Location is made-to-order for the economical storing, handling and reshipping of your merchandise.

Western Warehousing Company, at the edge of the Loop, in the heart of Chicago's wholesale, retail jobbing district and railroad terminals, is housed in clean, light and airy warehousing and office space. Its half-million square feet of floor space tops an enclosed track space for 38 cars—(2 tracks of 19 cars each).

70-foot driveways practically surround the building. Ideal for economical rail and highway transportation.

Take advantage of the finest facilities for serving your distribution areas. Use WESTERN as your branch warehouse in Chicago, and enjoy the same efficient handling of your distribution as you would want from your main office. Remember — WESTERN puts you in the center of things.

There's a man who knows from experience. You can always count on United Warehousing Facilities in Peoria, connected with 14 railroads, over 50 truck lines, with a quarter-of-a-million square feet of heated and sprinklered space.
You can depend on United Service . . . the sort of service acclaimed by all United's customers.

"The best"..."the most conscientious"..."finest service we ever received"... these actual comments from customers are typical, and they give good reason why you too should "call United".

NOWAK WAREHOUSES, Inc.

In the Heart of the Industrial Calumet Area and Chicago Switching District

HAMMOND and EAST CHICAGO, IND.

a dozen good reasons for selecting NOWAK–

1 Two plants, strategically located for distribution in any direction by all types of transportation.

2 Capacity for over 1500 carloads of merchandise.

3 Palletized handling of all packaged products.

4 New mechanical and pneumatic equipment for handling products in bulk form.

5 15 ton overhead traveling cranes for machinery, steel, etc.

6 Rail service by the PRR, NYC, B&O, BOCT and IHB railroads. The latter Belt Lines connect with all Chicago railroads—ideal for storage in-transit operations.

7 Both plants located within the Chicago Switching District and benefiting from the rates therein.

8 Immediate accessibility to US Routes 12, 20, 41 and the Indiana Toll Road for trucking movements.

9 Storage and handling rates that make outside warehousing cheaper than maintaining your own facilities and personnel.

10 New favorable Indiana tax legislation—no sales taxes or property tax on in-transit residual stocks—very favorable for Chicago and Mid-Western distribution.

11 A reputation from over 50 years of service to industry.

12 Flexibility of operation, enabling us to tailor our services to your specific needs.

IT'S

FOR SAFE, CONVENIENT WAREHOUSING AND STORAGE

Here's why - -

• Safe — Warehousing

Modern brick and concrete buildings for dry, safe storage. A.D.T. Aero Fire Protected. A complete service for discriminating accounts that want the finest in warehouse facilities. Most of the National Brand Accounts use Columbian service for storage and distribution throughout Michigan.

• Daily Statewide Distribution with Columbian Truck Fleet

Columbian maintains its own fleet of modern trucks and equipment to assure you fast, reliable distribution of your merchandise. Daily runs to all parts of Michigan and store-door delivery keep your cost down and your customers satisfied.

• Centrally Located

Columbian's central location means fast distribution to all points in Michigan. Daily fleet runs and store-door delivery assure you proper distribution of merchandise. Saves time—money—builds customer good will. A service that you can depend on—It's Columbian in Michigan.

• Private R. R. Sidings For Your Use

N.Y.C. and Penn. R.R. sidings direct to our warehouses. Means less handling, faster service and better distribution of your products.

• Completely Palletized

Cut losses, warehouse damage with Columbian Palletized service. All merchandise is carefully handled and stored on pallets. Keeps your products dry, always intact and allows for fast, safe handling. It costs no more to warehouse your materials the right way — investigate Columbian service for Michigan.

If not, you may be overlooking a real opportunity. Kansas City is one of the fastest growing industrial cities in the United States and rates high as a great financial and manufacturing center. Freight and passenger traffic is handled by twelve trunk railroads . . several major airlines . . and numerous bus and truck lines . . . penetrating a tributary area containing millions of people.

Take advantage of our "Ready to Function" facilities. Place a full line of your products in our care . . . then put your Sales Force to work. We will back them up with a comprehensive service that will measure up to your most exacting requirements . . . yet be so flexible, that it can be instantly expanded or contracted to fit your immediate needs as they may vary from season to season or year to year. A service that will grow and go along with your business.

Contact our offices in New York, Chicago, Kansas City or the office of our Associate, the Overland Terminal Warehouse Company in Los Angeles for full particulars concerning your specific needs. No obligation.

A NEW FACILITY—OUR OWN PRIVATE TEAM-TRACK

Pool car shipments are transferred directly from cars to our own fleet of motor trucks for immediate delivery to your customers in Kansas City and points nearby. Another convenient and economical service.

SERVICE THAT EXCELS

"Service That Excels" is more than just a slogan at St. Louis Terminal. It's a fact that results from long-standing policies to always be equipped to give the best service possible.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE REASONS WHY* you get fast, dependable courteous service

- Adequate space and well-trained employees to handle your requirements efficiently.
- All types of space—cool, dry, heated.
- Warehouses in strategic locations for fast service throughout the St. Louis area.
- Adequate protection—A.D.T. Burglar alarms, and sprinkler systems assure low insurance rates.
- Legal liability insurance $500,000 each location, Fidelity coverage each employee $1,000,000.00.
- Accurate and perpetual inventory records.
- Pool car and pool truck distribution.
- Local drayage service—large fleet of trucks always ready for deliveries throughout the St. Louis area.
- Traffic and legal departments available to you.

"A CHILTON PUBLICATION"

The meaning of these three words is "Editorial excellence with service to the reader and to the business or industry he represents."

DISTRIBUTION AGE is one of sixteen Chilton publications serving major fields of business and industry. There is constant integration of effort through the Chilton Editorial Board and cooperative interchange of information at all levels among all the publications. Thereby, the reader is served to an extent far exceeding the scope possible by most other publishing operations.

DISTRIBUTION AGE is authoritatively written and edited by skilled editors who have had experience in the field of physical distribution. Leading experts on specific areas of activity in physical distribution are regular contributors to DISTRIBUTION AGE'S editorial pages. Innumerable contacts are maintained throughout the field to assure thorough and reliable editorial coverage.

DISTRIBUTION AGE is outstanding because it is . . .

Keep the customer happy

Your customers want what they want when they want it. Spot-stocking your inventory for the New York area at Harborside helps avoid discontent and possible defection to competitors.

Distribution from strategically located, superbly equipped Harborside is so much more efficient than dispersal of your stocks at points of doubtful convenience and limited capacity for service. From centrally situated Harborside you can operate efficiently to quickly serve the teeming 14,000,000 who live in this lush marketing area. You draw freely upon the unparalleled facilities, services and experience of the world's greatest rail-water terminal.

Harborside is just opposite Cortlandt St., Manhattan—only 5 minutes from Holland Tunnel and trunk highways. Direct P.R.R. connections (31-car siding). Decide now on better distribution, bigger profits, by spot-stocking at the point of sale, virtually in New York. Send for our folder giving Harborside's exclusive advantages.

THINK THIS OVER:

- Teletype (Number JCY-103)
- 43.5 acres of combined dry- and cold-storage, manufacturing, processing, office and showroom space
- More than 200 carefully trained warehousemen to serve you
- Fully mechanized handling
- Modern construction, sprinklered—low insurance rates
- 87 off-the-street truck placements
- Pool-car service; transshipment
- Free and bonded storage
- Restaurant, stores (a city within a city)

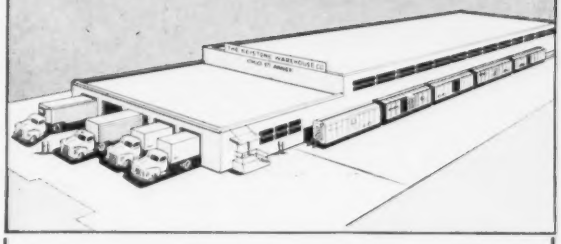
Additional facilities to handle

FAST TRUCK DISTRIBUTION

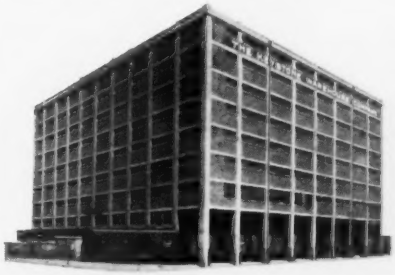
add a big plus to "Keystone" service in

BUFFALO



The new warehouse shown above, our Ohio Street annex, now makes it possible to handle active truck distribution with speed and efficiency, providing for quick servicing of outbound pickup trucks.

It is located at the corner of Ohio and Ganson Streets. This new property provides a large, off-street trucking court with ample docks at the right tailgate height. It affords 50,000 sq. ft. of storage space in a 1-story masonry building, equipped with automatic sprinkler protection and A.D.T. burglary alarm service. A 500-ft. private railroad siding on the Buffalo Creek Railroad (a switching road only) serves all railroads entering Buffalo.



For large-volume storage, with heavy rail movement, we shall continue to operate our two Seneca Street warehouses with 600,000 sq. ft. of modern storage space.

Whether your distribution is regional or national, you can profit by using our facilities and services. Write today for complete details.

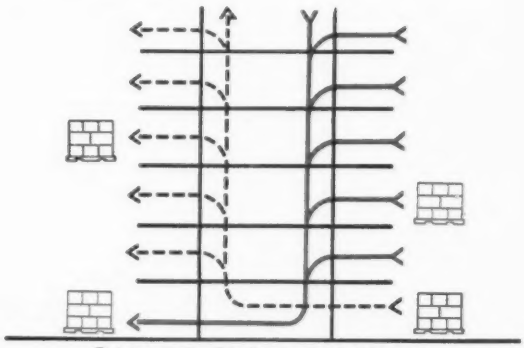
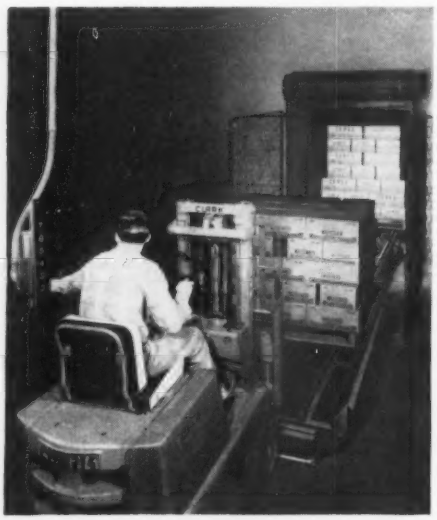
what an ENGINEERED APPROACH to public warehousing means to YOU...

Wilson's HVC is an important step toward CUTTING COSTS!

In this age of automation, it's still news when an independent public warehouse so thoroughly engineers its handling and storage operation that shippers immediately benefit in terms of increased efficiency, reduced damage to freight—and a real brake on rising costs. The Wilson-planned and developed Horizonal-Vertical Conveyor system means all of these, but even more important is the fact that this same kind of bold, creative thinking is on tap to work on and solve every problem you may have.



PALLET FLOW DIAGRAM



Wilson's HVC (Horizontal-Vertical Conveyor) is a fully automatic conveyor system with a "memory" which carries inbound merchandise to preselected floors; outbound merchandise placed on the outbound conveyor at any floor automatically registers its own call to be picked up by the system and brought to the first floor. As far as is known, this is the only system of its kind in a public warehouse, incorporating complete automatic flexibility, both vertical and horizontal, tied together with a "memory" system.

If you're interested in better public warehousing and a substantially better type of service—and who isn't?—drop us a line for complete details of how we can serve you.

BEFORE you decide on any BUFFALO warehouse MAKE SURE YOU GET ALL "4"

1. More Economical Rates
2. Better Facilities
3. Faster Service
4. Safe, High-speed Handling Equipment

WHETHER YOUR DISTRIBUTION IS BUFFALO, NEW YORK STATE, OR NATIONAL . . .

And, whether you have a problem or not, you'll find that these features of Wilson Warehouse have a definite bearing on getting the most for your storage dollar: a modern fireproof building, 260,000 sq ft storage space, strategically located in the heart of Buffalo's merchandising district; Buffalo's lowest insurance rate; private siding of the New York Central Railroad and reciprocal switching privileges with the eleven trunk line railroads serving Buffalo; storage-in-transit for both East and West bound shipment; vigilant protection service and 100% sprinkler protection; and the revolutionary HVC to speed merchandise in and out of storage, safely.

Serving Cleveland - Toledo - Detroit area for a New High in Services at a New Low in Rates!

Exclusively industrial—for mechanical equipment, and non-perishable products and materials. A warehouse "City" in itself! Reserve is engineered and staffed to serve industry as no other warehouse can. The district's largest single modern structure (steel, brick, and concrete) used for industrial storage only. Clean and dry, floors maintained by motorized "street" cleaning unit; 7 broad bays, center mezzanine and surrounding balconies. Area greater than 4 football fields. Located in the center of Cleveland's lake front industrial zone overlooking the Harbor. Pioneer in a new system of efficient, low-cost industrial warehousing service for mid-America.

8,487,000 cu. ft. space for industrial, non-perishable materials handling and storage. 218,000 sq. ft. of floor area, 100% concrete (unlimited wt. cap.). Low insurance rates. Display and maintenance space. Phone accommodations. Day-night service.

2 Indoor Track Sidings for 14 cars (N.Y.C. and P.R.R.) adjacent to paved Truck Drive-Through. Both in doors. Served by cranes and fork trucks. Quick, low-cost handling in-and-out of storage. Prompt, efficient Rail-Truck transfers indoors. Spot stocks, pool car distribution, and stop-off cars. On-line between Detroit, Toledo, and all points East. Storage-in-transit privileges.

12 Heavy Duty Overhead Cranes (incl. 1 twin-hook, double capacity crane) serving all sections of warehouse, including indoor sidings and Truck Drive-Through. Crane clearances (drift) from 18 ft. to 70 ft. above floor. Elevator and motorized handling equipment (lift-trucks, crane accessories, etc.). Complete modern facilities for heavy-duty loading, unloading, moving, rigging, car-blocking, cribbing, weighing, stacking, etc.

Complete Traffic Dept. Services for receiving, storing, distributing. Carrier scheduling, local, rail and highway trucks. Same-day shipping.

"Triple" Roof Protection. One of first with steel plate "ceiling", covered by 3 in. cork roof, topped with standard composition roof. Ceiling heights from 35 ft. to 90 ft. above floor. Plenty of "head-room" for tall units and stacking.

This is Cleveland's most complete industrial storage and materials handling service. Reserve does it for less than you can do it yourself. Write or phone.

PUBLIC WAREHOUSING WITH "PENNSYLVANIA" PAYS OFF IN PHILADELPHIA

The modern trend in distribution is toward public warehousing—of the kind "Pennsylvania" provides for you in Philadelphia. We offer you a choice of 22 warehouses in eight strategic locations in this great commercial and manufacturing metropolis. Here are real flexibility, efficiency and economy for your operations beyond anything that a private branch could give.

You contract for your requirements when and where you need them—no capital is tied up in static facilities. You store and ship your inventory to best advantage. Our buildings and equipment are modern. Personnel is experienced in the safe, swift handling of all manner of merchandise in any quantity. Your labor problems are nil.

"Pennsylvania" operates over 1,000,000 sq. ft. of free and bonded storage space. Rail and highway facilities are excellent. One- to 10-ton trucks are available for fast store-door deliveries. Insurance rates are low. Write, wire or telephone us today for full information.

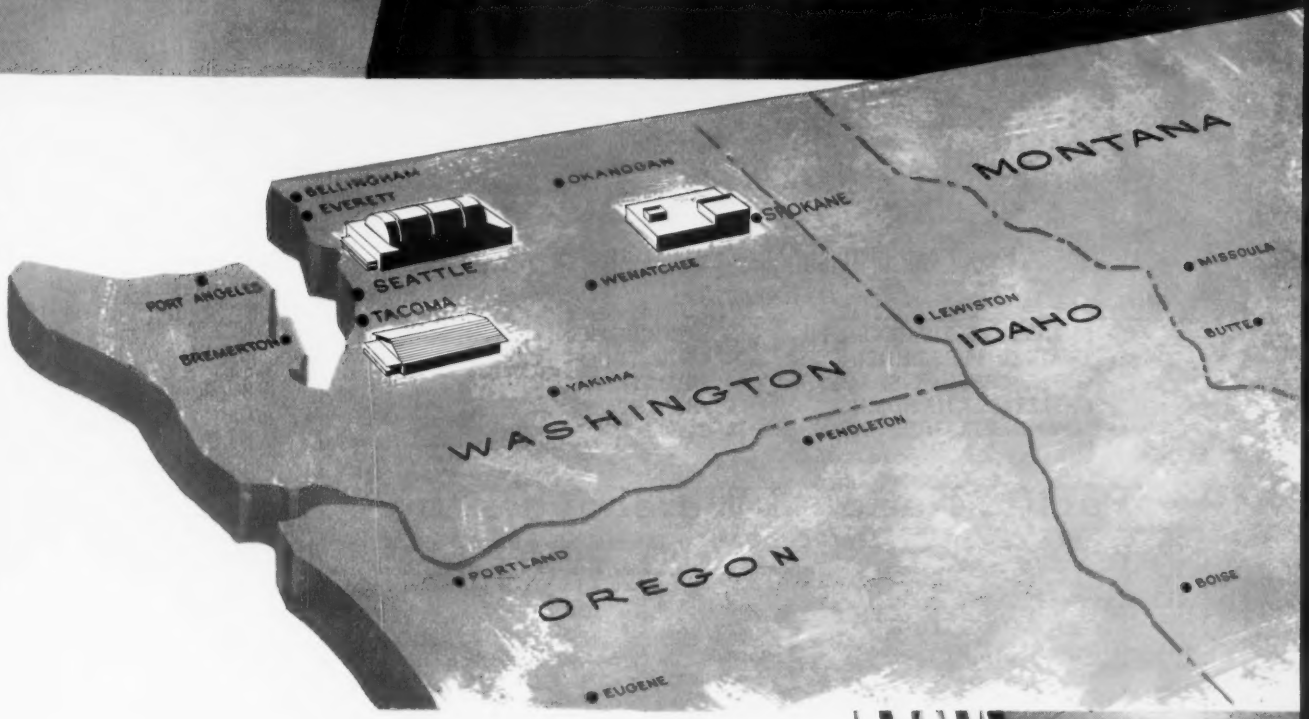
SIMPLIFY YOUR PACIFIC NORTHWEST DISTRIBUTION WITH

TAYLOR-EDWARDS
One-Company Service



In the Pacific Northwest, only Taylor-Edwards offers Complete Warehousing service in the major Washington cities under One Management. With the most modern buildings, the lowest insurance rates, the most adequate truck and rail facilities, and the largest storage areas in the state, Taylor-Edwards is best equipped to handle your Pacific Northwest distribution.

SEATTLE is the primary distribution center of the entire Pacific Northwest. It is the closest American port to Alaska and the Orient. More people can be served at lower cost from Seattle than from any other Northwestern city.

SPOKANE is the Capital of the great Inland Empire. Here Taylor-Edwards handles distribution not only for Eastern Washington and the Columbia River Basin Development, but covers Eastern Oregon, Northern Idaho and Western Montana.

TACOMA, where Taylor-Edwards maintains a terminal, is the distribution center of lower Puget Sound and Southwest Washington. It is connected to Seattle by Taylor-Edwards' intercity truck service.

Hansen's Tales are Practical Wisdom . . .

The innocent look
from Puss' face has went.
On it instead is the smile of content.
The feathers remaining
about his chin,
Give tell tale clues what his motive has been.

IF YOU hunger after the lucrative Wisconsin market — profit from the above feline's logic that "a bird in the tummy is worth two in the cage."

Spot your stock NOW at Hansen Storage in Milwaukee — instead of waiting for time and money to set up your own costly warehouse.

"Spot-stocking" with no capital investment at Hansen means you'll have your products or supplies within 2 hours trucking distance of any point in southeastern Wisconsin — where 75% of state income and 71% of all retail sales originate.

Best of all, your investment isn't tied down. You pay only for space and labor when you use it . . . and check the saving in shipping in quantity between high LCL rates and carload rates.

BIG IN EXPERIENCE AND PERSONAL ATTENTION

CUSTOMER PREFERENCE...OUR BEST REFERENCE

All Public Warehouses fulfill basically the same functions and provide the same services

But

BETTER WAREHOUSING — the AMERICAN way — places a special emphasis on these PLUS VALUES:

ADAPTABILITY — Your requests and instructions are conscientiously followed.
DEPENDABILITY — A promise made is a promise kept.
EFFICIENCY — American is constantly looking for newer methods.
INTEGRITY — All information is kept strictly confidential.
STABILITY — American is financially secure.

Yes

AMERICAN is the RIGHT COMBINATION between YOU—the Depositor—and YOUR CUSTOMERS.

Remember

AMERICAN is BIG enough to have developed the experience any Storer needs, yet small enough for its alert management and skilled personnel to keep a watchful eye on individual requirements in rendering a very interested personal service to each account.

A Carefully Selected Warehouseman can Really HELP YOUR BUSINESS!

Why don't YOU give us the opportunity to PROVE our Performance and Service?

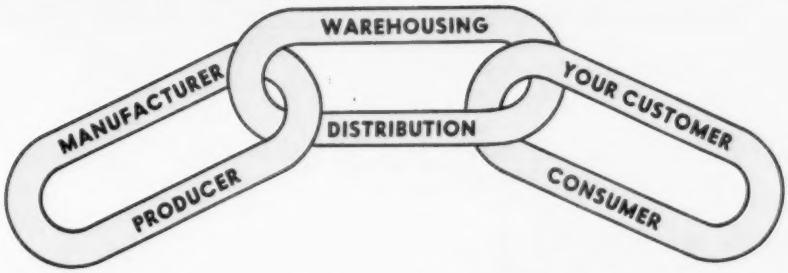
LET "NATIONAL" BE THE CONNECTING LINK



Above is an actual photograph of four buildings owned outright by us—A long city block of valuable property constituting part of the financial responsibility behind this organization.

For more than a quarter of a century these buildings have been storehouses for merchandise produced in the United States and throughout other parts of the world.

Since its inception the National Warehouse Corporation has, through the years, continuously served its original patrons—a clear indication of good customer relations.

NOW...A 4000 LB. DOCKER!

Here, the new 4000 lb. capacity Docker, Model FFEH-40, demonstrates high stacking ...grocery warehouse

Automatic

Adds New Rear End Control Docker with 8-way Superiority Plus Higher Capacity

Here's a new, high quality piece of equipment, Model FFEH, designed specifically for operation where loads up to 4000 lbs., 48" long, must be handled in extremely close quarters. It needs only 81¼" plus load length for right angle stacking and operates easily in a 63" intersecting aisle. With 83" mast, lift is 130" with 62" of free lift...100" with a 68" mast. All standard attachments can be accommodated.

In addition, this Docker offers the same 8-point superiority characteristic of all Dockers: (1) faster lift and travel for higher productivity; (2) greater safety inherent in lower center of gravity and 4-wheel suspension; (3) shorter, more compact chassis for fast, efficient work in close quarters; (4) higher grade clearance increases operating range; (5) shorter turning radius improves maneuverability; (6) lower step height on rear end-control Docker enables operator to get on and off truck easily and safely; (7) heavy duty Class-H Silicone insulated motor permits substantial overload and higher starting torque with safety; (8) greater visibility when maneuvering. Capacity: 1500, 2000, 3000 and 4000 lbs.

No truck of the same type and capacity can match Docker performance on any job within its capacity. All models available on convenient lease or purchase plans. EXAMPLE: 1500 lb. Docker with battery and charger leases for as low as 92 cents per hour*. But, get all the facts. No obligation...just mail the coupon.

*Based on Model FFE-15 with battery and charger, working on 8-hour day, 240 days per year.
